Consumers to Get Benefit of Lower Coal Freight Rate

Commission Announces 5 To 12 Per Cent Reduction in Wisconsin

Madison—(P)—The Public Service commission announced today a 5 to 12 per cent reduction in state freight rates on various types of coal, estimated to save Wisconsin factory and home users nearly $250,000 annually.

The reduction followed an investigation started last year, in which the commission found that 10 to 30 per cent of the cost of every ton of coal sold in the state goes for freight charges.

Emphasizing a spread in retail prices at various Wisconsin communities, the commission asserted the new rate schedules will bring freight costs on different types of fuel into a closer relationship.

Varied Rates

Increased use of trucks for hauling coal and other factors caused a diversity in the rate structures of the railroads which have attempted to meet truck competition, the commission said.

The order stated that the distressed financial condition of the railroads had been taken into account in reducing the freight rates from an excessive or exorbitant rate to a "reasonable level."

"Nevertheless, in dealing with coal and coke traffic which constitutes so large a proportion of the railroads' business," the commission said, "the fact cannot be disregarded that, with one exception, the lines carrying the great bulk of the traffic, have for several years been unable to meet their interest charges, are in the hands of receivers or trustees and are even experiencing difficulty in meeting operating expenses."

Beneficial Industries

The commission said that cities which formerly did not have specific rates on line coal, used extensively by paper mills, industries and large buildings, will benefit most from the rate cuts.

The commission estimated that 25,000,000 tons of coal were received at Wisconsin ports on Lakes Michigan and Superior during 1936, of which 2,500,000 tons were shipped into the interior. Rate reductions will apply on the volume sent in by boats and reshipped by rail.

Appleton dealers said the proposed reduction in freight rates will result in reducing the price of hard coal from 5 to 13 cents a ton, and the reduction on soft coal will be from 4 to 10 cents a ton. Freight on hard coal from the docks in Green Bay to Appleton is $1.10 a ton, and on soft coal it is 78 cents a ton.

Phil Scores State Democratic Heads

Charges Leaders With 'Brazen' Betrayal of Their Party

Stevens Point—(P)—Governor Philip LaFollette, charging there had been a "brazen" betrayal of the state Democratic leaders last night for what he termed a "brazen" betrayal of their party and abandonment of the "liberalism of President Roosevelt for the reactionism of Republicanism."

LaFollette, campaigning for reelection on the Progressive ticket, said:

"For years certain leaders in control of the Democratic party in Wisconsin have been trying to ride on the coat tails of President Roosevelt and masquerade under his liberalism."

"Their present betrayal of their party—brazen and arrogant as it is—makes it clear to every thoughtful citizen who has the interest of Wisconsin at heart that the reactionaries are in complete control of both the old parties in this state."

The governor urged a concerted effort to put through the proposed $26,000,000 Wisconsin and Fox rivers hydroelectric and flood control project, which he said would increase prosperity in the state.

Pupils Construct Zoo And Circus at School

Pupils of the Pleasant Corners school, Greenville, have constructed a circus zoo and farm in connection with the reading unit, "Wild and Domestic Animals." The students took field trip last Friday and observed wild animal life. The school society held a party in the woods with LaVerne Palmbach, president in charge. Pupils having birthdays in August and September were honored. They were Junior Borchardt, Joan Emmott, Gerald Drews, Loretta Emmott, Bernice Greiner and Orville Steinback. Arlene Palmbach was in charge of the Francis E. Willard program given Sept. 28. Elaine Kuzenski will be in charge of the Lief Ericson program.

Eleven of the sixteen students enrolled were perfect in attendance last month. They were LaVerne Palmbach, Arthur Tiesling, Jerome Peters, Letha Palmbach, Donald Hob, Arthur Borchardt, Jr., Joan Emmott and Evelyn Rolf.

Red Cross Sends Soap To Spanish Civilians

Washington—(P)—The American Red Cross has arranged to help wash as well as feed the destitute on both sides in Spain.

The relief agency will ship 25,000 cakes of soap Saturday for distribution to civilians. Officials said a skin disease was spreading through civilian areas because of lack of soap.

Council Grants Board's Request For Project Fund

this year. We're getting into a jam and if we don't call a halt it's going to be too bad."

Alderman Thompson agreed with Alderman Vanderheyden and said: "Even if they went at the job blindly what can we do about it? The job has to be finished."

Alderman Keller wanted to know if the money requested now will complete the work and Alderman Harriman answered: "We don't know, they'll probably be in next meeting for more."

"We ought to open our eyes and look into this thing," Alderman Grignon commented.

Alderman Knulst thought the job ought to be stopped and he received some support from Alderman Harriman who said: "The work they're doing is mainly on the athletic field and they got along without that at the old school. I think we ought to stop the projects not necessary. We all know where the tax rate is going this year."

Alderman Franke and McGillan suggested a meeting with the school board before doing anything about the loan and Alderman Thompson opposed stopping the job. He said: "I don't see how we can stop the work; we can't leave the school ground in its present condition."

Keep Men Working

Alderman Steinhauer thought the men ought to be kept at work. "The school board is doing a good job and we have one of the best high schools in the state for the money with: 'What are we doing, running we spent.'"

Alderman Grignon came back a race with other cities? I think this thing is getting all out of proportion."

A proposed ordinance setting the hour of the school at 7 o'clock in the morning and the closing at 7 o'clock in the evening, instead of 6 o'clock in the morning to 8 o'clock in the evening, was ordered published. The passage of the ordinance will be considered at the next meeting.

The sum of $200 was appropriated for renting the Salvation Army building and the Methodist church to house the WPA recreational program this winter.

Alderman Kubitz, chairman of the recreation committee, explained the money would be a good investment because the program will support 10 or 12 leaders who otherwise would be on relief. He said he approached the school board for space in the schools but did not get cooperation.

Transfer Funds

To cover an overdraft expected in the street department budget before the end of the year, $8,000 was transferred from the general fund and $1,000 from the bridge maintenance fund.

An ordinance prohibiting the discharge of firearms within the city limits was adopted unanimously. The new ordinance augments an old one which prohibits shooting birds and pets within the city but does not prevent the discharge of guns.

Councilmen authorized the city engineer to draw plans and submit an estimate of the cost of widening Jackson street bridge on Prospect avenue. The bridge now is 18 feet wide and forms a bottle-neck on Prospect avenue.

Arterial signs were ordered placed on Parkway boulevard and Brewster street at N. Oneida street, and "no parking" signs were ordered on the south side of Franklin street from Superior street to Drew street.

Permission was given to remove the curb on S. Oneida street near Lawrence street to form an entrance to a new filling station being built by L. S. Zeh, 831 E. Commercial street.

Union Party Winners

To Be Listed on Ballot

Madison—(P)—Attorney General Orlan S. Loomis ruled today that the winners in the Union party primaries may be listed on the November election ballot even though they did not meet the statutory requirement of obtaining 5 per cent or more of the average vote cast for the party's nominee for governor at the last two general elections.

Loomis informed Secretary of State Theodore Dammann that the action of the statutes requiring a 5 per cent vote has no application to new political groups.

"Since the Union party has had a place on the ballot for only one year for governor its nominees do not have to comply with this provision," Loomis said.

Democratic Situation Is More Muddled Than Ever After Madison Convention

BY JOHN W. WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Those voters of Wisconsin who expected that their politicians in convention assembled at Madison this week would clear the political atmosphere and put the state campaign situation on an intelligible footing might continue to scratch their heads today, confounded at the turn state politics has taken in what is the most critical election year in a decade.

For Wisconsin Democrats, dazed and considerably discouraged, were in the approximate position today that they were last Sunday when Robert K. Henry's withdrawal as the gubernatorial nominee was publicly announced and left their state ticket rudderless.

In a decidedly undignified meeting, in which the party formally besought candidates to accept the almost empty honor of running for the governorship, the leaders of Wisconsin Democracy tentatively settled on 74-year-old Senator Harry Bolens of Port Washington, party whip and Coalition chief, against the LaFollette Progressives in the state senate last year.

If Bolens accepts the proffered nomination—he is expected to tell the party's state central committee tomorrow of his decision—observers could see two alternative developments.

If the veteran senator makes a personal campaign, with tours, speeches, and the other accoutrements of a candidacy, he will probably draw conservative votes from the Republican standard-bearer, Julius P. Heil and leave the political picture in the same position it was with Henry the Democratic nominee, a picture most pleasing to the Progressives who are certain they can be elected with a divided opposition, but not so confident against a single strong opponent.

Help For Republicans

2. If Bolens merely allows his name to go on the ballot, out of loyalty to the party which must have its ticket this year to prevent its complete dissolution in the two years hence, and is unable to or unwilling to take the field to speak for himself and his ticket, the Republican slate will enjoy the advantage which Robert K. Henry meant it to have when he withdrew and asked his considerable Democratic and Republican support to swing to Heil.

In such conjecturing, two factors must be remembered. One is that Mr. Bolens is one of the oldest men in state politics, and has just recovered from a serious illness. Add to that the fact that his family, according to convention reports here Tuesday, is adamant against his candidacy.

Second is the consideration that Bolens is known far and wide as a stalwart Democrat, as a life-time conservative, as a man who gladly worked with Republicans to defeat Progressive legislation in two legislative sessions, and who on his record in public life cannot be considered to follow the principles embodied in the New Deal program.

If any other evidence is needed of Bolens' doubtful allegiance to Rooseveltian ideas, one had only to look at the doleful countenance of Senator F. Ryan Duffy, Wisconsin's No. 1 New Dealer, and a candidate for reelection on a Roosevelt platform, during the convention sessions.

Duffy pleaded for liberal candidates, a liberal platform, and a liberal party organization. His personal choice for the gubernatorial nomination was Otto LaBudde of Milwaukee, a New Deal job-holder, as was Fox, the original organization choice for governor.

Duffy Snubbed

The legislative Democratic leaders who quickly got in the saddle at the caucus paid scant attention to Duffy's wishes, except to give him a platform which included flowery laudations of himself and of the national administration.

As if to plague Duffy still more, the legislative stalwarts proceeded to name Senator W. D. Carroll the new chairman of the state central committee. Carroll, as most of his associates will testify, has had a long record in public life in the state, but until this time has not been recognized as an outstanding liberal. A good indication of his sentiments can be gathered from his speech of acceptance, which bristled with ridicule of the Republicans, denunciation of the Progressive "dictators", but pointedly omitted any mention of Mr. Roosevelt or the national administration and its policies. And Carroll's speech came almost before the applause for Duffy had died away.

Also grouchily after the Democratic meeting was W. E. Rubin of Milwaukee, once a candidate for governor on a New Deal platform, and known in politics as a "professional" Roosevelt man. Rubin wanted the gubernatorial nomination, but got only 15 votes in the caucus at which Bolens was chosen.

If still other indications are needed to illustrate the inconsistency between the Wisconsin Democratic party's paper beliefs and its practical desires as shown in the selection of party personnel and candidates, it can be shown in the Republican reaction to the Bolens choice and the fact that Mr. Carroll last week had accepted Henry's invitation to become party chairman.

Republicans were not enthusiastic at the Democrats' action in choosing Bolens, pointing out that Bolens is more widely known in many sections of the state than their own candidate, Heil, and more popular among many conservatives. A straight New Dealer, some of them, including some of the candidates who have an immediate interest in state tickets, would have taken some votes from LaFollette and driven the conservative Democrats over to Heil.

Henry For Carroll

Henry, it is known on the best authority, had arranged to nominate Carroll last week, before he made his own decision to withdraw as the Democratic candidate. Henry is anathema to loyal New Dealers, now a favorite of Republicans. How then, the interested spectator may ask, can his personal choice for the party leadership be considered a Roosevelt Democrat?

Democrats hogged the limelight this week, although their position was not at all envied by other politicians.

Progressives rolled through their platform meeting in a routine fashion, while Republicans charged themselves hoarse in their enthusiasm and optimism for the prospects in November. Significant to many—especially in view of previous activity among the Republican hierarchy and its legislative spokesmen—was the flagrant flirting of the Republican convention with the Townsend and other old age pension vote.

Lyceum Speaker Praises Builders Of Senior School

Alonzo Pond, Archeologist, Tells of Important Mummy Find

"I have visited many high schools throughout the country, but I have never seen any as fine or as carefully planned and thought out as this building." These were the opening words of Alonzo Pond, nationally famous archeologist, when he addressed the assembly of Appleton High school Wednesday. Mr. Pond was the second lyceum speaker of the year.

Illustrating his talk with many colored slides, Mr. Pond told of his experiences in excavating "Lost John of Mummy Ledge," a prehistoric Indian who had been partially buried for many centuries under the weight of a 7-ton stone in Mammoth cave, Kentucky. Step by step he reconstructed for his audience the dramatic story of the discovery and excavation of the miner's mummified body.

"A chapter from the life of a primitive people was disclosed when the rock was lifted from the body of Lost John," Mr. Pond declared. "Gypsum, valued as a paint ingredient, turned the primitive miners into Mammoth cave. Lost John, feeling cramped on the narrow ledge, moved his left foot for comfort and dislodged the huge rock above him. Death posed a tragic tableau. The strange chemistry of the cave began the process of preservation, and the eternal minutes lengthened into centuries."

Measurements of the archeologist proved that Lost John was five feet, four inches tall. Sandals, a woven fiber blanket, reed torches, and even a preserved nut gave some insight into the daily life of this ancient people, Mr. Pond stated.

Stresses Need for More Equitable Income Structure

Wiley Urges Encouragement of Business Expansion, Spending

Chippewa Falls—(P)—Alexander Wiley, opening his campaign for a seat in the United States senate, declared last night the nation must achieve a more equitable income structure and said the first step toward the goal was encouragement of business expansion and spending.

"This can be done by a consistent government program which does not confuse relief measures with recovery measures," said the Republican candidate in an address before residents of his home town.

"Business must be encouraged to expand with the confidence that its legitimate profits will not be wiped out by sudden transformation of governmental policies."

"The WPA must be recognized as purely a relief measure tiding over those otherwise unemployed until expanding business can be reabsorb them in private employment. Old age pensions must be put on a pay as you go basis and collected by a tax based on the plan of ability to pay."

"Legally created corporations which destroy the competitive nature of our economy must be legally removed. Unnatural monopolies must be broken up."

"Collective bargaining must be strengthened as a means of saving the needy worker from accepting a necessitous wage."

"I cannot emphasize too much that the farmers, workers, and businessmen are all in the same boat. The prosperity of all three depends on the same fundamental things. There is no short cut to increased prosperity and higher incomes for the underprivileged. I do feel, however, that this program which I have suggested will lead us on the way toward a sound recovery."

Bob Says War Means Military Dictatorship

Manitowish—(P)—"If America is asked to fight a foreign war, the very declaration of a military dictatorship in this country," Senator Robert M. LaFollette warned an audience here last night.

He said the war and navy departments have "worked out detailed plans for complete mobilization of human and material resources in the event of war," and that the bill designed to carry out mobilization "contains provisions which could be used to impose censorship of the press and radio and turn all channels of public information into a gigantic propaganda machine."

The bill also provides, LaFollette stated, "for fixing prices, rents, salaries and wages," and "gives the president power of conscription over all men between 21 and 31."

He urged support of the Progressive party's peace program.

Nobody Knows if Hitler Was Bluffing in Threat To Fight for Sudetenland

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Berlin—(P)—Now that Fuehrer Hitler has signaled his amazing Czechoslovak coup by a triumphal entry into annexed Egerland over flower-strewn roads, it is possible to draw one's breath and consider the prevailing query whether there was an element of bluff in his war threat.

Premier Chamberlain of Britain told a tense house of commons before the Sudeten settlement that Hitler had declared categorically he would risk world war rather than wait for acquiescence in his demands. I heard Hitler say to Egerlanders in a voice breaking with emotion: "As to you, the nation was ready to unsheath its swords for you."

What Hitler's innermost thoughts were will perhaps remain his secret for he is a man who keeps much to himself. But close observers who are permitted a glimpse behind the scenes declare not only did he not want war but would have avoided it by any means short of sacrificing the prestige of his country and of himself.

That doesn't mean he wouldn't have fought as a last resort, for he would, and it would be a mad mistake not to recognize that.

Expected Surrender

By putting together the oddly assorted pieces of this puzzle, however, many observers arrived at the conclusion that the Nazi dictator daringly led Europe deliberately up to the edge of a precipice with the firm expectation that his opponents would surrender before it was too late to prevent war.

Hitler works a great deal by intuition, which has guided him unerringly thus far in such achievements as the tearing up of the treaty of Versailles, the remilitarization of the Rhineland and the annexation of Austria. He himself once remarked, "I am like a sleep walker." That is another day of putting the same thing.

American Credit In Europe Would Aid Foreign Trade

Lawrence Favors Lending To People but Not Governments

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—When as noted an isolationist as Senator Borah of Idaho suggests that Congress might loosen the restrictions on foreign lending if this will promote the sale of American farm products abroad, it may be said that a milestone in our post-war history has been passed.

For the one thing that has been done more than anything else to retard the economic recovery of Europe has been the recent absence of capital with which to rehabilitate her industries and businesses.

Economic nationalism and policies of self-sufficiency with high tariff walls and quotas as against American products have been the natural result of the inability of European peoples to get capital to replace that which went up in shot and shell from 1914 to 1918.

Much of America's lending power was exerted in behalf of Europe between 1920 and 1929, but with little safeguard against speculation, and hence many loans became almost worthless. But it is surprising that a huge percentage of these loans have continued to pay interest and principal.

Outstanding Default
The one outstanding default, of course, was the war loans which, however, were government and not private obligations. These, of course, were affected by the delusion of the allies that Germany could pay the reparation bill.

The truth is the world war debt couldn't be paid by this generation or succeeding generations in Europe without a phenomenal increase in economic prosperity. When Europe, stripped of capital, was unable to find revenue from taxation sufficient to pay her war debts and when Germany failed to pay, too, suspension of payments to the United States became inevitable.

The passage of the Johnson act to forbid the flotation of European loans in the United States was popular at the time because of a widespread belief in America that Europe really could not pay. Whatever doubts on this subject there may have been, much has been dispelled by the recent revelation of Europe's war fears and the heavy expense of armament preparation in the last five years. When, as we read this week, France is having difficulty now raising even the small amount of money to pay for the mobilization last month of her armies when war was threatened over the Czech problem, it is plain what the financial plight of Europe really is.

Needs Capital

There are many observers of economic trends, moreover, who think that the German people would not tolerate the dictatorship idea very long if they could develop an era of real prosperity and get rid of the armament expense. The one thing Europe needs above all else today is capital, and Uncle Sam has more than half of the gold of the world—the basis for huge credits—buried in the hills of Kentucky.

The argument that America should lend no more to Europeans because the governments became virtually bankrupt is met by many economists with the contention that, if, in a capitalistic system, there is a refusal to lend to a business man who once made a failure or went through bankruptcy, the chances of increasing employment by encouraging enterprising individuals would become nil.

Calves are Exhibited By Crystal Star 4-H Members at Roundup

Several calves were exhibited by members of the Crystal Star 4-H club at its annual roundup last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kimball, near Seymour.

Helen Kimball was first in light cake, Mary Ann Hein second, and Helen Kimball third. Jean Kloehe had the best dark cake. Audrey Mielke's was second and Dorothy Kneiser third. Dorothy Kneiser had a booth exhibiting a complete breakfast.

Four garden booths were exhibited by Willard Sylvester, Charles Kimball, Roger Pauls, and Dorothy Kneiser. Handicraft was shown by Billy Kimball.

Dean Millis Will Talk At College Convocation

Dean John S. Millis will be the speaker at the Lawrence college convocation tomorrow morning in Memorial chapel. Dean Millis will give a report on the results of sophomore tests given at the college last year.

from America during the period between 1923 and 1928, it is interesting to note that about $5,000,000,000 went overseas, but approximately $5,000,000,000 came back in the form of interest charges and sinking fund payments on debts, private and governmental. These figures were entirely apart from the huge foreign trade which America developed. For, when American funds were loaned, they usually were used, precisely as Senator Borah now suggests, namely to finance purchases of American goods and manufactured products.

The United States has a singular opportunity to encourage foreign trade and increase employment at home by making available credits to European peoples. The Johnson act can still be retained insofar as it applies strictly to lending to foreign governments, but it probably was never intended by the California senator, who sponsored the act, to put a virtual embargo on the flow of private funds from people to people, something vital to the restoration of a world economy and hence to the prevention of world wars.

Five Overdrafts In Budget Funds, Council Is Told

Some Accounts Still Within Estimates for Year, Treasurer Says

Kaukauna — Five funds were listed as overdrawn in the report of the city treasurer to the council this week. At the year's beginning, aldermen allotted each city department an amount thought sufficient to carry it through the year, in an effort to run the city on a budget plan. According to present indications, several of the individual budgets will exceed their limit before Jan. 1.

The five funds in arrears are the contingent fund, with a deficit of $6,858.71; poor fund, deficit of $2,417.66; electric light fund, deficit of $2,417.66; electric light fund, deficit of $36.25; water works fund, deficit of $56.25, and vocational school fund, deficit of $1,166.69.

With three-fourths of the year gone both the north and south side road district funds will finish in the black, provided they are expended in the same proportion as during the first nine months. The south side has $1,520.63 left, and the north district has $1,574.69. Both districts were given an allotment of $5,000.

Sewer Funds Split

The north side sewer fund is above water and the south fund below. Of $500 set aside for each, the north side has $304.48 remaining and the south side $100.21. With the exception of the large contingent fund deficit the poor fund is in the worst condition. The aldermen set aside $20,000 for the year, but already the fund is overdrawn $2,417.66 with three months yet to come. Some money from the county is due on reimbursed charges.

There is $9,769.98 in the firemen's pension fund and $1,195.27 in the Police pension fund.

The library, given $5,000, is slightly to the good, with $1,372.74 remaining. The vocational school fund, listed as overdrawn $1,166.69, received a $1,000 check from the state yesterday to bring it almost even. In the public school fund there is $14,740; in the commercial and industrial development fund $5,235, and in the sewage disposal plant fund $1,880.

Vocational School Gets $1,000 Check From State

Kaukauna — A check for $1,000 was received yesterday by William T. Sullivan, Kaukauna Vocational school director, as partial payment on the state aid due Kaukauna this year. The money is sent early by the state board on the supposition that many communities are in need financially. Sullivan explained, emphasizing that the sum is but a fraction of the total Kaukauna will receive. At least $4,500 will be the city's share, the director added. This should arrive in a few weeks.

Kaukauna Favored to Win Grid Tilt at Clintonville

Kaukauna — Coach Paul E. Little's Kaukauna High school griders are favored to win their first conference victory of the season tomorrow evening when they clash at Clintonville with the Trunkers under the lights. In the first conference game two weeks ago at Neenah the Kaws came home with a 6-6 tie after outplaying the Rockets most of the way. They lost their opener to Sheboygan North in a rainstorm, 12 to 6.

The squad has been warned that Clintonville is far from the weak team of past seasons. It has lost to West De Pere and Neenah, but has displayed enough strength to make the going tough for any team. In Goerlinger, big back, the Trunkers have a punter without par in the conference.

Little probably will start most of the lineup he's used in the first two games. Leo Rohan and Bill Alger will be at ends, Leroy Frank and Sherman Powers at tackle and Leo Wolfe at center. John Vette and Steve Androski seem to have the call over Cliff Fomal and Bob Dougherty at guards, but the latter two will see as much action before the night is over. Kaukauna's veteran backfield, Carl Giordana, Carl Kobussen, Clayton Watson and Bob Niesen, is slated to be on the field.

Isn't This Why You Are Constipated?

What do you eat for breakfast? Coffee, toast, maybe some eggs? What do you eat for lunch and dinner? Bread, meat, potatoes? No wonder you're constipated; you probably don't eat enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean the amount you eat. It means the kind of food that forms a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines. It's this mass that helps a bowel movement.

The common sense thing to do is to eat a natural laxative food. Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast may give you just the "bulk" you need. And it gives you, in addition, Nature's great intestinal tonic, vitamin B. All-Bran is not a drug, not a medicine. Eat it every day, drink plenty of water, and life will be brighter for you! All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—There have been complaints of my ability to think things through. These complaints have been placed on file and will receive attention in their regular order, but as a preliminary report on the problem I will say that the difficulty has been stated incorrectly. The fact that I do not think things through is no proof that I am unable to do so, and those who leap to this conclusion are themselves guilty of slapdash thinking. I can think things through, but I don't like to because I always arrive at conclusions very disagreeable to me and find myself in the company of persons and beliefs with whom I would not be found dead.

For example, I see no difference between a Canadian youth of 18 and an American of the same age and insist that it is no more the duty of the Canadian boy to go to Europe and fight for Czechoslovakia than of the American. I hold that the American has no such duty at all and therefore that it would be wrong to hold Britain to a political pledge involving the risk of this Canadian boy's life.

Yet the German seizure of parts of Czechoslovakia and the infliction of brutal German rule on the minority population of that territory is horrible to contemplate, and I cannot resist the temptation to propose that when Mr. Chamberlain is elevated to the peerage by way of reward for postponing the killing of the Canadian boy he select for his title plain Lord Jim.

Now, there is a hairpin turn in this thought, but I planned it that way because I certainly can't commit the Canadian and American boys to such a fight, but still have to maintain my objections to the procedure in the Sudeten country and in Munich.

I could have started with the Canadian boy and thought him right through to a grave somewhere in Europe, but that is a terrible price to pay for one man's satisfaction in having thought straight. I prefer to start another thought about the folly of unpreparedness for war, especially in the presence of menacing preparations by a nation which is an enemy in all but the formal, declared sense. Germany is Enemy of United States Too.

Nazi Germany is the enemy of Great Britain and France and of this country, too, because Canada is a part of the British empire, and we stand committed not only by sentiment but by consideration for our own peace and safety to prevent any European enemy of Canada—and this goes for the Japanese, too—from obtaining a foothold in Canada. We have that on paper in the Monroe doctrine, and we have had affirmation of it recently in a speech by President Roosevelt, and we seem agreed on it.

So now we come to the point of planning what to do and have no options but to agree with Mr. Chamberlain's declaration in parliament Tuesday that Great Britain was caught virtually unarmed and therefore made a pious virtue of the surrender at Munich. Mr. Chamberlain went on to say that the British, having learned a terribly humiliating lesson, would now go into training to make the fight for their lives as soon as they feel that they are sufficiently muscled up.

The British sat down to a dish of crow and exclaimed, "What

Sensational New "No-Scrub" Soap - NEW HIGH-TEST OXYDOL Washes Clothes UP 15% WHITER

New High-Test OXYDOL contains a revolutionary new ingredient that makes it give up to TWICE THE SUDS even in hard water... safe as ever for washable colors, fabrics and hands

NOW comes a sensational new advance in soap-making to prove again that "the wonders of science never cease." An amazing new ingredient that makes High-Test OXYDOL far superior washing in tub or washing machine. Yet an ingredient that keeps it safe as ever for washable colors—safe for washable fabrics and hands!

Tested against old-fashioned bar and package soaps in hard water, new High-Test Oxydol does these remarkable things—

- (1) Washes white clothes up to 15% whiter, as shown by scientific tintometer records.
- (2) Gives up to TWICE as much suds—suds that stand up two to three times longer.

Colors Stay Surprisingly Fresh

New High-Test Oxydol is amazingly safe for washable colored things. In laboratory tests, sheer cotton prints washed as many as 175 times in new High-Test Oxydol suds showed no perceptible sign of fading—came surprisingly fresh!

In tub washing—High-Test Oxydol soaks dirt loose in as little as 10 minutes. No scrubbing, no boiling, as with less modern soaps. Washed this way, clothes last 2 to 3 times longer from the standpoint of washday wear and tear compared with old-fashioned methods.

In washing machines—new High-Test Oxydol soaks dirt loose while the washer is running—gives you DOUBLE-ACTION wash. No need to waste time scrubbing "extra dirty" spots to get clothes really clean. Saves work—saves trouble—saves time.

It Goes Farther, Too

Because of greater washing power, each cup of High-Test Oxydol goes up to one-fourth again as far—does up to 25% more work—than the same amount of old-fashioned soaps. So it's extremely economical, too.

You'll find High-Test OXYDOL at all dealers in the familiar orange and blue bull's-eye package. (No change in the box—the difference is in the soap.) Get a package today. Procter & Gamble.

MORE SUDS MEANS BETTER DISHWASHING, TOO!

GIVES WHITER WASHES THAN EVER—

When the old OXYDOL was first introduced, women believed that the last word in laundry soap had been found. But now comes a remarkable new ingredient that makes new High-Test OXYDOL as much as 15% whiter washing than less modern soaps.

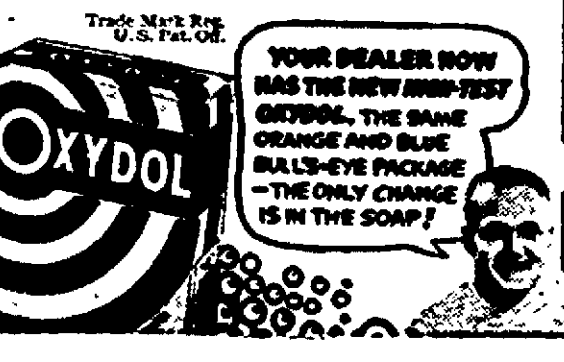

COLORS STAY SO GAY AND FRESH.

CLOTHES LAST MUCH LONGER, TOO.

The two sketches above illustrate High-Test OXYDOL's amazing safety for washable colored things. At the left is a drawing showing how a brand-new cotton print appeared before washing. At the right, sketch of same print after being washed 175 times in new High-Test Oxydol suds—yet showing no perceptible sign of fading! What could be a more striking demonstration of OXYDOL's safety for washable colors—for fabrics and hands?

OXYDOL soaks dirt loose in as little as 10 minutes. Thus ends the washboard scrubbing that shortens the life of clothes.

Picture at left shows a new sheet (highly magnified) scrubbed 84 times with old-style soap. Note fraying in weave, due to hard rubbing and scrubbing... On the right, another new sheet washed 84 times the scrubbing OXYDOL way. Note difference in "washday wear and tear."

AMERICAN STRIKE TECHNIQUE

The settlement of the 50-day-old strike upon the electric line between Milwaukee and Chicago brings that dispute back for consideration because it involves an attitude toward a labor dispute seldom employed although perhaps containing valuable ideas.

When the 1300 employees voted to strike the company had to select one of two general attitudes. It could quit operations or it could attempt to operate with hastily gathered crews. In neither contingency could it expect any profit and probably less loss by shutting its doors.

But here is one of the hardest pills for management to swallow. It feels that it loses face unless it can defy the strike as something insignificant and worthless. And how can the workers be defied unless the company operates?

Yet if it operates, the workers, motivated by exactly the same pulse beat as the management, feel that they have lost face in that the management, with doors open and business flowing in and out, must look upon the workers as of no consequence.

When analysis is made of many of our labor disputes most of the bitterness will be discovered in this situation, a situation where men act instinctively with a little of the jungle in them instead of intellectually which leaves the jungle out.

The management looks upon a strike as a most critical affair because it jeopardizes steadiness of operation. Does it imagine that it isn't critical for the workers?

Had operation been attempted on this electric line the management would have been out much more money than it is today, the workers would have lost the $300,000 in wages that have gone during this period never to return, and clashes would have occurred whereby each side pummeled the other side in the attempt of each one to save face.

It may be fairly doubted whether any managers who have by the use of all the instrumentalities of the law been able to crush a strike, even where they considered it wholly unjustified, felt any real satisfaction in the methods used any more than comes to one who has heavy odds in his favor which makes every battle unequal.

It isn't that the procedure in the Electric Railway case is to be recommended, it may be suggested, however, as both a decent and practical method wherever it is applicable.

Certainly it carries to both sides of the controversy something like even or equal punishment. Yet it abstains from carrying to either that high coloring matter which prevents men when angry from seeing things in their true shape.

And until we can get a congress with enough courage to grapple with the problem of industrial disputes in a perfectly realistic manner the method employed on the electric line has advantages that simply cannot be disputed. Instead of both sides becoming madder with every day of the strike due to physical clashes each seemed to become cooler due to the unobstructed chance of viewing the situation as it really was.

And the greatest gain may be chalked up to that thing we call intelligence, for in a difficult situation nothing is to be gained by tearing the hair and striking out at somebody else, any more than a sick man improves his fever by thrashing around the house.

ANOTHER PITTMAN IDEA

Senator Pittman has a new silver idea. His previous silver scheme, which this administration drank in in copious draughts and congress regularly approved, filled our treasury with big hunks of silver at a fancy price two to three times its market value.

The great promise was that we would thus take unto ourselves all the business of silver producing countries from Mexico to China. The result has been to drive the poor Chinese off the silver standard entirely, and it may be best not even to mention that what occurred in our relations with Mexico.

With that sort of a background Senator Pittman pushes Abernethy of Alberta and $30.00-a-day Thursday off the stage and now offers this: Our government is to dispose of our cotton carry-over by trading 10 pounds of cotton for one ounce of silver on foreign strands, and with this 670 million ounces of the white metal pay the planter for his cotton at the rate of 12.9

cents a pound by issuing the usual silver certificates against the metal.

Since cotton is now selling for 8 cents a pound and silver for 43 cents an ounce it is evident that someone is to be double-crossed unless the senator is pulling rabbits out of his sleeve again. Either the plan results in 80 cents worth of cotton bringing in 43 cents in silver or 43 cents in silver obtaining 80 cents in cotton. Concealed within the warm innermost cockles of this deep Nevada project is just another big dipperful of water diluting our currency.

Strange, is it not, how the government conducts intensive campaigns against corporations that water their stock while it runs a hose night and day as it waters our currency?

The senator says that naturally his idea will "arouse the silly cry of inflation." It should arouse a cry for Houdini to return to this earth so we could elect him to the senate.

WHEN GANGS RULE

The route of decency and triumph of corruption attendant upon abandonment of judicial functions to governors and legislators is made pretty evident by the Pennsylvania situation.

A former attorney general has testified before a legislative committee to the use of $150,000 to corrupt the legislature in permitting certain brewery and cinema legislation, that the governor of the state has admitted to him that he obtained financial advantage out of the 10 millions in contracts given his friend, the same governor who admitted he secured a "loan" of about $35,000 from that friend. Of course there was the usual evidence of public agencies inducing bidders on public jobs and supplies to raise their prices and pay the difference in to the political pot.

The question was who should have the duty and authority to investigate and pass upon this mess. The constitution of Pennsylvania, like that of most states, declares that "the judicial function" shall rest in the courts. The people are well aware that Governor Earle and his badgered friends, frightened out of their wits at being tried by disinterested jurists and non-political jurors, attempted to cast the jurisdiction over such offenses to the legislature.

The supreme court has permitted the legislature to make its investigation. It could hardly do otherwise. A legislature has the right to investigate, not for the purpose of punishing wrongdoers, but only to furnish information upon which healing legislation may follow. But the court held also that any attempt to oust the courts from their duty to try all accused persons was void.

Sometimes we question whether it isn't a mistake to prevent some of these "friends of the people" from having their own way in every respect just to see what a wreck they would make of the country. The only objection to that plan is that the evil results would probably bring about widespread bloodshed as the people came to realize how these crude and corrupt plans to defeat constitutional government instead of advancing their interests were swiftly returning them to the Dark Ages.

A STORY BOOK NEWS ITEM

The composite story book of childhood, worn and torn by youthful fingers, opened wide at New York the other day when Cinderella, Snow White and Miss Muffet, to say nothing of a grand ruffian of gnomes and dwarfs, came to life and paraded in person.

Everyone of them smiled as they walked around the last will and testament of Mrs. Edna Elliott, an aged lady who left a million dollar estate to a theater usher who had been kind to her and a ballet dancer who had gone out of her way to entertain her, both these recipients of bounty having looked upon her as a poor old woman because she wore the faded clothes of forty years ago.

Reilly, the usher, took compassion upon Mrs. Elliott who was a constant attendant at the theatre where he worked. He had lost his job and passed out of her life but she hadn't forgotten the consideration he showed for her. The young lady had smiled and chatted with her and performed little services to ease and comfort her.

Alas, all good deeds cannot earn such suitable rewards but the fact that some do is reassuring, and the credit thus established to sustain the Prince and the Pauper and all the other charming romances of childhood gives them a prestige too they have long since merited.

Opinions Of Others

WHY "PECORA VS. DEWEY"
Another shock from Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora.

Justice Pecora grants District Attorney Dewey's request for a transfer of the Hines indictment and trial to the Court of General Sessions—request which no judge, under the circumstances, could well refuse.

But, against Mr. Dewey's strong protest, Justice Pecora insists upon reserving to himself, after a new Hines trial, the sentencing of the three co-defendants—Davis, Weinberg and Schoenhaus—who pleaded guilty and became the chief witnesses for the state.

This means that Justice Pecora will hold over these three key witnesses for the prosecution what they are bound to regard as a club. It means the consequent danger of their testimony in a new Hines trial may be influenced by their fear of Justice Pecora, who, as they now well know, is hostile both to them and to the district attorney, for whom they agreed to testify and upon whose good offices in recommending clemency they relied.

Justice Pecora thus deliberately creates a situation in which the strength of the people's case against Hines may be further gravely jeopardized.

That is assuredly not in the public interest.

DALE HARRISON'S In Old New York

New York—The town is doing the Lambeth Walk these crisp October days, but maybe you don't give a darn.

The Lambeth Walk is an importation from England, but it is full of strut and the old square dance Swing-Your-Partner business, which makes it American—well, rawther.

The new dance has created a bit of an artistic clash between Prince Serge Obolensky, managing supervisor of the St. Regis, and Arthur Murray, the tycoon of terepicoche. The Prince got the jump on Arthur, introducing the dance while Mr. Murray was still perfecting some little details of it.

Murray said the Obolensky interpretation was too dignified, being about the way an ex-convict from Russia would do it. The Prince, according to Murray, didn't have the right inflection of the final "OUI" that the dancers shout every once in a while.

It's a tempest in a teacup as far as I'm concerned. Why two distinguished gentlemen should quibble over a dance is beyond me.

For those of you who may depend upon me for your dance data—perish the thought!—here is how Murray has been demonstrating it at the Glass Hat:

He starts out by having a "caller" announce: "And now we're going to do the Lambeth Walk, folks." It's one of those things; you have to tell people.

The dancers form two-by-two in line with the man inside. Strut forward eight steps, swing the arms, link right arms, walk in a circle to the right—four steps. Strut forward eight more steps side by side, link left arms, walk four steps in a circle to the left.

The partners take four short steps away from each other (but facing), closing their heels on the fourth count. Then they slap their knees with the palms of their hands in time to the music, and end the nonsense by pointing their thumb over the right shoulder—a la hitchhiker—and shout "OUI!"

There you have it; and you can have it.

Beautiful women get to be an awful bore after you've seen as many of them as Nicky Blair has. Nicky picks 'em at the Paradise, which has been claiming to have the most beautiful girls in New York for so long that a lot of us are beginning to believe he may be right.

Nicky has certain standards of pulchritude, but nothing particularly scientific. That is, he doesn't line them up and pick them with a tape measure and a yardstick. If they're beautiful, they get the job.

The average age of a Paradise girl, Nicky thinks, is about 20. "But you can't tell about that," he tells you in the next breath. "Girls' ages are deceitful."

The deceit, one suspects, is under rather than over, for theoretically a girl must be 18 to become a chorus girl in New York.

No matter how beautiful or how talented, the girls seldom stay more than a year. "Customers get tired of the same faces after awhile," Nicky explains.

Beautiful girls seek jobs at the Paradise, Nicky said, as a springboard either to (1) stage fame or (2) a rich husband. Some merely see it as a job. One girl, through the Paradise chorus to pay her way through college. Smart girl. Another uses her $45 a week wages to study for grand opera, and she gets an audition at the Metropolitan Opera this fall.

A few of the girls earn as much as $100 a week, Blair said. They augment their Paradise wage by posing as photographers' models.

Between shows you can see some of them sitting by themselves at secluded tables, pouring over books. "They're studying their lessons," Blair advised you.

I wanted to tell him I did not think beautiful girls should study their lessons. Any girl can study lessons, but beauty is a talent.

Many Paradise girls go from Broadway to English music hall. Beauty scouts from London drop in, look over the beauty crop and then offer them contracts—generally more money than Broadway pays.

"The girls like to go to England," Blair explained, "because they believe that they can marry an Earl or something and get titles."

They can for all I care.

Looking Backward

10 YEARS AGO

Thursday, Oct. 4, 1928

Still playing championship baseball, the New York Yankees made their hits count Thursday against St. Louis and hung up a 4 to 1 triumph in the opening game of the World series.

For the first time in many years, Neneah was required to borrow money for current expenses and construction costs as a result of the creation of the new senior high school, compelling the city to overdraw its funds by $40,000.

Revised plans for the subway ordered constructed on E. Wisconsin avenue by the railroad commission, presented by Lloyd Schindler, city engineer, were approved by the common council Wednesday night.

25 YEARS AGO

Thursday, Oct. 9, 1913

At a meeting of the industrial board held the previous evening, it was decided to open an evening school in connection with the new industrial school as there seemed to be a demand for that kind of a school, according to Miss Carrie E. Morgan, superintendent of schools.

Flour dropped 20 cents a barrel that week. Winter and spring wheat took a drop of two cents a bushel.

The poultry association at a meeting the previous evening took steps to provide cooperation for 1,500 birds at the annual show in the armory.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

THE HABIT OF LOVE

I have a habit, Dear, of loving you,
And it is much too late to stop it now.
I love your eyes, so beautiful and true.
I love the white sweep of your noble brow.
I love your hands, your alabaster hands,
And every word you speak falls on my heart.
I love your hair, and think of its bright strands,
And your slow smile, when we are far apart.

The years have come and gone, and you are still
My dearest habit. ... Though the night must fall
With separating shadows, I shall fill
My eyes with your delight, and after all
Our years on earth, shall with my failing breath.

Pray for the power to love you after Death!

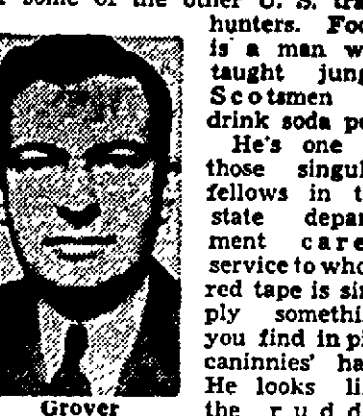

(Copyright, 1938)

Nor do we see by what judicial reasoning Justice Pecora can justify his determination to retain this form of control over witnesses in a momentous case which is to pass to another court where the people hope to find a judge more just to them and to their prosecutor. The justice has no one but himself to blame for crowding public doubt and misgiving. His latest slap at the district attorney does not stand alone. He picked and pecked at Mr. Dewey from the start of the Hines trial. His localistic declaration of a mistrial was only a climax. Now he sticks to his dog-in-the-manger role by keeping his grip on Mr. Dewey's star witnesses.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER
Washington—What Hitler needs for trade penetration is not Storm Troopers but a corps of plump fellows like Walter Foote of Texas, or some of the other U. S. trade hunters.

Grover
Dutchmen Rembrandt liked to paint.

Foote is in the consular service. His job is to see to it that American goods get a fair break in world markets. There are scores like him in the service. They've stuck away in the trading marts of the world. They never make the headlines, but their work shows up in the trade statistics. That's where the soda pop popped up.

Ye American Native

For generations many people living in the jungle countries of the East Indies have soothed their feelings with scotch whisky and soda. But while Foote was consulting in the Dutch East Indies, he recalled that back in torrid America the natives (you and I) were achieving the same effect with soda pop.

So, he began asking dealers in the Indies why they didn't serve soda pop.

"No demand," was the invariably reply "and it tastes awful."

Foote didn't believe that last crack. He investigated and found the trouble was they were getting soda pop that was not made in America—usually a sawmixture of fruit juice and pop-less fizz water. And it was served without ice.

Foote finally persuaded a few dealers to take on small consignments of American pop and to serve it with ice. American soda pop didn't sweep the Indies like a plague. But it took on so well that one company now has its own bottling plant in Java. It can be had at the better bars at 15 cents a bottle. The dealers won't handle it for a nickel a bottle.

Foote says his primest recollection is seeing two Scotsmen at a fashionable club in Batavia, sipping Yankee pop through a straw. (Each had a bottle, not two straws for one bottle.)

Ye Olde Mint Julep

And again, there is the business of mint juleps. They had to be put across in the East Indies the same way. Now you can get American Bourbon (you don't make juleps with scotch) at bars where it was never offered before.

Electric refrigerators went the same way. A proud and wealthy Dutchman at Batavia built himself a swank mansion—completely electrified, except for the ice box.

Dutchmen in the Indies had used ordinary ice boxes for 100 years or more and electric never could make headway.

The break came to Foote. He was a guest at the house warming.

When the show was about at its peak he suggested quietly to his host for the ice box. "Wouldn't an electric one be better?"

Well, the idea spread until now, says Foote, "the things go like hot cakes." We didn't supply that comparison. It's his.

And let's not pass on until we record what came out of Virginia in the past few days. Managing Editor Leon Dure of "The Richmond Times Dispatch," has coined a term to describe these stamp money schemes designed to make the country prosperous and more aged comfortable. Sheridan Downey, California stamp money advocate, who defeated Senator McAdoo in the democratic primary, is one of those Dure had in mind. Dure calls him a "scrip-teaser."

Mission Sunday Planned At Black Creek Church

Black Creek—Mission Sunday will be observed with English services Sunday at 10:30 at St. John Evangelical church. The Rev. E. Wilking of Cecil will give a talk in German and the Rev. A. F. Grollmuss will speak on "Home Missions." Sunday school will be held at 9:30.

2 1-2 Million Families Get Food From Government

Washington—(AP)—The government supplied food directly to more than 2,500,000 American families during the fiscal year ended June 30.

The Federal Surplus Commodities corporation disclosed in its annual report yesterday it had purchased more than 1,800,000 pounds of surplus farm products during the year for distribution to relief families at a cost of $48,400,000, including $1,018,000 for administrative expenses.

Wisconsin, with 36,950 families eligible to get food through, received a total of 16,463,000 pounds.

A MORE IMPORTANT ENGAGEMENT

Your Birthday

"LIBRA"

If October 7 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:45 to 11:45 a. m.; from 1:45 to 3:45 p. m., and from 7:45 to 9:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:45 to 9:45 a. m.; from 5:45 to 7:45 p. m., and from 9:45 to 11:45 p. m.

The destructiveness of fire may have a far-reaching effect upon the lives of many people this day. Cigarette and cigar smokers, combustible material handlers, and users of matches be very cautious this day. You cannot afford to be absent-minded about where you place things this day, for through thoughtlessness accidents may occur. You are apt to find that there exists a strong temptation to distort or exaggerate people's words, so be careful. Inconsideration will be the principle cause of breaches in friendship and largely accountable for changes in plans. Serious efforts to make money are likely to be very successful. There is a day when it is far more important for you to correct your own faults than it is to try to discover the faults of others. Married and engaged couples, and those who are in love, may make this a brighter day, by displaying a loving amount of attention in a sentimental way.

If a woman and October 7 is your birthday, place a high valuation on relationship and friendship, for if you fail to do so the time may come, when through some mischance, you will feel the loss. Being absorbed by other interests, you may neglect your physical well-being, which will be a grave mistake. Your mind might need diversion and mental relaxation just as much as your body requires exercise to keep it fit. Physical culture, scientific, historical or statistical research work, acting, lecturing, singing, painting or selling are among the activities that you should be able to engage in successfully. Your selection of a husband, in all probability, will reflect your good judgment.

The child born on October 7 can have some great things expected of it. Intellectual, and smart in personal appearance, this youngster ought to be a general favorite with people who are thrown into close contact with it. As children born on this date are persevering and generally have many worthy aspirations, they usually attain enviable social and business positions.

If a man and October 7 is your natal day, you should have sufficient distinctive individuality to make you outstanding in social, professional or commercial circles. Through some highly specialized type of work, chances for success are unlimited. As an artist, professional man, author, clergyman, sales agent, inventor or manufacturer you should become successful.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

BEGIN AT THE HEAD

Of the four grades of profile posture from excellent or A to bad or D, and the four grades of anterior or front view posture from excellent or I to bad or IV, 75 per cent of children in their teens have only C-III or poor posture and less than 1 per cent have A-I posture.

The poor posture of the majority of young persons is primarily due to one or more nutritional deficiencies, notably deficiency in the intake of sunshine vitamin D through childhood and deficiency in the intake of calcium and phosphorus due to excessive defecation of food which removes much of the natural calcium and phosphorus from the food and also the lack of adequate vitamin D which is essential for the utilization of calcium and phosphorus.

Perhaps deficiency of vitamin B complex in the refined diet, and faulty metabolism of iron and other essentials the assimilation of which requires vitamin B complex, is the next most common cause of the poor posture of growing children.

The contempt of proper physical education which is felt and evidenced by so many American educators has the sad effect of encouraging camped or spoiled children in evading this part of their schooling; it promotes a negligent or indifferent attitude among parents too.

Remember the grade A (excellent) profile—external auditory meatus or opening into ear, tip of acromion (tip of shoulder) greater trochanter (outer bow prominence of hip) and external malleolus (outer ankle bone) are in a plumb line. And the excellent (I) anterior or front view posture requires "necks, ankles and great toes" to touch easily, a space visible between insteps, shoulders of equal height, curves at waist line equal.

For child or adult with poor posture the best way to improve the posture is by beginning at the head, sit, stand and walk, whenever you think of it, as the you were carrying a large basket of fruit balanced on your head. Also whenever you think of it, draw in your chin and tuck it down inside an imaginary high stiff collar. Such constant practice is bound to improve the posture of the entire body.

Having learned how to keep your head on straight, and perhaps to go about correcting the chief faults in your nutrition, it is well to consider better handling of your feet.

The most prevalent error in handling the feet is toeing out. Unfortunately young ladies were formerly taught that it is dainty or graceful to toe out, and even the army soldiers were compelled to toe out, when standing at attention. This is as wrong and as quaint as 5-fingered or toothpick shoes. Every one should toe straight ahead or even a little inward. Any other position of the foot is ugly, awkward and abnormal. When the heels are together the toes should always be together too.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Old Goodman's Curse

I am 78, have been bothered with prostate gland trouble in light form for past two or three years. Doctor says gland moderately enlarged, recommends operation, after thorough examination with catheter and other instruments, blood tests, etc. but my family and friends advise against operation. (S. E. S.)

Answer—Your family and friends, sir, are incompetent to offer advice or maybe they are impatient to get what may be coming. You would be wise to have the operation recommended now, either by the ordinary operation or by transurethral "resection."

Challenge to Parenthood Is Discussion Topic at Washington PTA Meeting

Neenah — Parents — mothers in particular — were "put on the spot" at the first of a series of Mother's Study club meetings sponsored by the Washington Parent Teacher association, Wednesday afternoon in the Neenah library during open forum which followed a panel discussion on "Today's Challenge to Parenthood." Mrs. Karl Koehler was chairman of the opening meeting with Mrs. Henry Johnson, Mrs. Howard Howman and Mrs. H. F. Beglinger assisting. The Rev. W. R. Courtenay, pastor of First-Presbyterian church, gave the invocation. Stressing the need for "mutual tolerance for seemingly contrary points of view," throughout the study club sessions, the second of which will be held next week with Mrs. Marvin Olsen as chairman, Mrs. Koehler pointed out the topics and program material were the consensus of opinion gained by the participants in reading and study. "It is important that we remember it is not always the children that need clinical analysis but the parents," said Mrs. Koehler, as she urged a self-critical attitude, the arousal of which was the aim of the program Wednesday.

Hold Proper Values

"It is only after some of our reserve has been broken down that our minds and hearts will be open to the things which will be presented during the fall series of meetings," said Mrs. Koehler. "As parents, we must maintain a perspective, hold proper values, and plan what type of personality we want our children to have in order that they may be happy, well balanced personalities, standing beside the parents, ready for life, able to live with other people, able to work, able to love—in a word, unafraid."

"Because our collective aim is happy and well developed personalities for our children, it is necessary that we meet together in such groups for exchange of ideas, for discussion of problems, for awareness of our own faults as parents as well as the responsibility we as parents have in the guidance of our children in their adjustment to life."

More than 50 women attended the initial meeting yesterday which was opened by a brief comparison of racial backgrounds of American and foreign children and the changing conditions within the last generation. Mrs. Koehler gave the introductory remarks after which Mrs. Henry Johnson, who is president of the Washington PTA, presented a short but comprehensive analysis of some of the most definite and far reaching changes brought about in the home and communities.

Traces Changes

After tracing the growth of the home since pioneer days, and the changes through the years which have made for more leisure time and which have brought the phone, wireless, and radio linking the world together, Mrs. Johnson stated "with all these changes, the same motives for home exist: protection, convenience, unity, community of interests. No substitute has been found for homes. The home is not disintegrating but it is passing through a transition period. Two of the changes which most effect the home are ceding of fathers' dominance into the hands of mothers, particularly in the city home, and the freeing of mother's time. The shift from masculine to feminine authority has relaxed discipline but it has brought with it a more understanding treatment of children. "Today's challenge to parenthood is the indistinct grumbling on the part of parents. There is resentment of evil influences at work in our communities. Parents feel vaguely that something is happening that on the whole is injurious to our children without knowing clearly what it is or who is to blame. However, the most particular parent cannot keep her child uneffected by forces in modern communities. Those forces are part of the process of growing up but we as adults make those experiences for it is adults who make the community. The responsibility of parents is great. The forces of good and evil are mixed in alluring spreads before youth."

"Even in small communities, the child is away from home for a good share of his out-of-school life. There are movies, athletics, recreational programs, scouts and other similar organizations. With these outside activities, it is made easy for parents to shift responsibility."

Can Seek Improvement

"We can, however, make community recreation better, we can strive to wipe out evil and improve the good, we can realize that the need to return to children that which parents alone can give and only family life can supply is greater than ever. We can and must give our children something of wholesomeness and normality and simplicity of life."

"The changes in life in which the child has a definite part will be the background for study by the club for it is these changes that have brought new problems. Mrs. Koehler pointed out as she continued the discussion. The changes are responsible for a new type of individual, an individual who must find adjustment to the changing world."

Mrs. Howman and Mrs. Beglinger both presented case studies to illustrate problem situations which confront every parent. Among the case studies were examples of stubbornness in children, mental hygiene problems in both parent and child, overemphasis on pride in parents, and the problems which arise in families where parents try to center all ambitions which they did not realize on the child, regardless of his ability.

In the brisk discussion which followed, the mothers put themselves on the "spot" as well as discussed mutual problems. One mother declared "as parents, we have followed the trend of the times and are away from home ourselves a great deal. Our children have only followed our example and yet we wonder why they don't stay home more."

ing material to Japan to carry on its war with China?"

"The hands of these American business men are dripping with blood."

"The pangenity of war has a tremendous appeal," Dr. Culver said in his proposal of maintaining peace by taking the glory out of war. He suggested that peace pacts be held on Armistice day.

Declaring that the present European situation is too tangled for him to discuss, Dr. Culver told the Kiwanians that he was glad when the nations, reaching the brink of war, had pulled back. "We may not like the settlement, but isn't any settlement better than killing five million boys?" he asked. Although he said he didn't like Hitler or his methods, the minister contended that "an unjust treaty of 20 years standing had been changed a little."

He also said he liked the editorial which was printed in the Post-Crescent a couple of days ago, "People ought not be obliged to live where they don't want to," he said.

Stating that he didn't like some people's attitude that war is inevitable, Dr. Culver contended that the "price of peace comes as a great positive achievement, putting into practice great principles."

Appleton Pastor Proposes 6 Ways To Prevent Wars

Dr. Harry C. Culver Talks On Peace at Kiwanis Meeting

Neenah — Six methods of maintaining peace, two of which he asserted as being impractical but effective, were proposed by Dr. Harry C. Culver, pastor of the Appleton Methodist church, at the noon meeting of the Neenah Kiwanis club at the Valley Inn Wednesday.

"If all countries would adopt a law forcing every legislature who voted favor of war to the front lines within 48 hours, then there would be no war" was one of his proposals.

His second proposal was to "shoot the secretaries of state, war and navy, five generals, five leading munition manufacturers, five editors who favored war, before anyone else is asked to give their lives." The minister contended that this would maintain peace.

The elderly pastor made another statement, while not on the maintenance of peace, had a profound effect upon the Kiwanis: "If war comes, let the men over 50 years of age and those who are crippled be drafted first and give the boys a chance at life, love and a home."

Wholesale Massacre

"My definition of war," he said, "is the massacre of boys by wholesale."

The other proposals which he claimed were logical, were: Establishing a secretary of peace in the president's cabinet to head an international peace program; changing the economic system; surrendering invested interest in munitions and taking the glory out of war.

"Instead of building a battleship which costs about $100,000,000, allot the money to establishing a secretary of peace in the cabinet, 10 regional offices through the country, 40 foreign offices, an editor-in-chief to head free publication of peace newspapers, magazines, books, radio programs, movies, supporting students and professors abroad and foreign students and professors here and establishing an international university with scholarships for thousands," was one of his proposals.

Hits Trade Barriers

The minister also contended that "it is just as dangerous to build high protective trade barriers between nations as to point guns at each other." "Some way must be found whereby raw materials may be shared," and the doctor pointed out that 21 of the 25 raw materials vital to life are controlled in the four leading countries, the United States, Italy and Germany can control only four. "Nations will fight before they will starve," he averred.

Dr. Culver was bitter in his denunciation of munition manufacturers and other war profiteers. He said, "While millions of boys were being paid $1 a day to be slaughtered in the trenches during the World War, 25,000 new millionaires were being made at home." He contended that the munitionists are the only "true internationalists" we have. "They don't need war if nations are always getting ready for it."

"It is a diabolical business," he told the Kiwanians. "It has been proven," he said, "that during the World War, England was selling nickel to Germany. Germany was selling barbed wire to France, and even the United States shipped materials to Germany to make explosives which were used in killing our own boys."

Bombs for Japan

He asked the Kiwanians, "Are you aware that the United States is furnishing 53 per cent of the bomb-

Churches Will Expand Young People's Program

Neenah — Neenah churches sponsor many young people's groups and several of the churches are planning additional groups this winter.

St. Thomas Episcopal church sponsors a Boy Scout troop and is making tentative plans for sponsorship of a girl's organization on similar pattern. A group of boys belong to the Acolyte Club which meets regularly for devotional study and recreation. The Young People's Fellowship will open its fall and winter program Sunday evening, Oct. 9, when a supper meeting is held in the parish hall. William Spengler is an officer of the Young People's Fellowship of the Diocese of Fond du Lac which plans joint sessions and interchange of ideas during the year.

At Trinity Lutheran church in Neenah, a Good-Fellowship club of 32 members meets every second and fourth Wednesday. This group also sponsors a Bible class for all the young people on the first and third Wednesday evenings. A comprehensive recreational program is a major project of the Good fellowship club.

Congregational Groups

A Boy Scout troop, a Cub pack, and a Wobelo Camp Fire Girls group are sponsored by the First Congregational church. Other young people's groups include the Junior Group of the Ladies society and the Lambda Tau Pi, the latter group meeting each Sunday evening in the social rooms of the church. Norman Michie is president.

St. Mary's Catholic church sponsors a Cub pack, Boys Scouts of America, an alumni band, a Sodality group for boys and girls and a Catholic Youth organization. Because the parish has a high school, many of these organizations are connected directly with the school.

In St. Patrick's Catholic parish, a Young Ladies Sodality is very active with meetings held monthly and social activities sponsored during the year. The Rev. A. S. Laque who is in charge of young people's work in the parish, is planning several other groups which will be organized this winter.

A Young Ladies Sodality is a major young people's organization in St. John's Catholic church. This group sponsors card parties and social events besides having devotional meetings.

Aldermen Again Defer Action on Bike Ordinance

Council Accepts Deed for Site of Pool, Recreation Building

Neenah — After listening to arguments for and against paving E. Canal and Walnut streets, the city council at its meeting last night at the city hall decided to postpone action on the proposed bicycle ordinance and firework banning ordinance and accepted the conveyance of the deed for the old Arneemann property on the lake shore on which the $140,000 swimming pool and recreation building will be built. Otherwise, the 21-hour session was limited to routine matters.

Upon motion of Alderman Robert Martens, the city clerk, H. S. Zemlock, was instructed to purchase 13 new raincoats for the fire department. The motion was carried without any discussion, while at the last meeting, a heated argument resulted.

Those who appeared before the council opposing paving of E. Canal and Walnut streets were Harold Matteson, Arthur Kuehner and Meyer Burstein, while A. H. Angermeyer and Dr. S. D. Greenwood were in favor of the project.

Argue Paving
Matteson, representing the Chicago and North Western Railroad company, told the council that his superiors had instructed him to inform the aldermen that the company was opposed to the project and that the officials soon would file definite reasons. The company claims that it owns the right of way on Walnut street having purchased the land from Gilbert Jones in 1903 and contend that it has full title to the land. The city attorney, John O'Leary, having received this information Wednesday, hadn't had time to check, but he said that according to the information at his disposal, the city still owns the street. He added, however, that he couldn't give a decision until he checked into the railroad company's claim.

Kuehner was representing the Wickert Lumber company. He contended that the streets didn't need paving, that encouraging more traffic would result in a traffic hazard because of the three railroad crossing and bridge and that it was too expensive. Burstein objected to the grade.

Angermeyer and Dr. Greenwood contended that the street was unsanitary and a disgrace to the city. Points to Saving Alderman Carl Loehning pointed out the saving to the city and the property owners by paving the street now when PWA funds are available. Mayor Edwin A. Kalfahs pointed out that the council wouldn't be hasty in making a decision.

When questioned, Alderman Robert Buschey told the council that Menasha officials weren't quite ready to adopt the two proposed ordinances on licensing bicycles and banning fireworks but that when the neighboring city was ready, both councils would adopt them at the same time. A communication urging adoption of the fireworks banning ordinance from the Neenah Rotary club was read and referred to the committee on ordinances and printing.

Property for the swimming pool had been purchased by the donors and the deed was conveyed to the city last night, the council

Dupont and Hammett advanced to the finals in the fall tournament which is conducted by Ivan Williams, high school tennis coach, when they defeated Mead and Jonscher in the semi-finals, 6-2, 6-2. Maynor and McGraw defeated Metz and Pratt in the semi-finals, 6-0, 6-0.

In the first round, Dupont and Hammett defeated Arpin and Graham, 6-1, 6-8. Foth and Doughty lost to Mead and Jonscher, while Metz and Pratt defeated Kramer and Gomoll, Metz and Pratt defeated Gomoll and Koepke.

accepting the conveyance. Two resolutions were passed by the council, enabling bidders on the PWA paving project and the swimming pool job to accompany their bids with a certified check amounting to 5 per cent of the bid in lieu of a bond. The city clerk pointed out that bonds were expensive. The checks may be returned to the unsuccessful bidder.

New Street Lights
The council authorized installation of street lights on E. Doty avenue and Cedar street, Adams street and Western avenue, and Riverlawn and Western avenue. The latter is a dead end intersection. The council also authorized the installation of sanitary sewers and laterals on Hanson street. Authority was given the committee on streets, sidewalks and bridges to get prices on 700 to 1,000 feet of snow fence for Lake street. Alderman Loehning, chairman of the committee, pointed out that the county used to furnish the fence, but since the street no longer is part of a county highway, the county won't have jurisdiction any longer.

Alderman Edward Schultz, chairman of the committee on parks and public buildings, was authorized to have the roof on the city hall repaired. He reported that it leaked. The council appropriated $25 for expenses of Police Chief C. H. Watts who is attending the state fire convention at Racine. A Class D beverage license was granted to Dell Dornher.

The final hearing was held, committee's report accepted and resolution adopted for installation of curbs and gutters on Eleventh street from E. Forest avenue to Nicolet boulevard at a cost of 60 cents a foot.

Neenah Alderman Rises to Defense Of Sewage Plant

Martens Disagrees With Menasha Mayor's Charge That Plant Is 'Flop'

Neenah — Although Alderman Robert Martens at last night's council meeting may not have been looking for an argument, he emphatically disagreed with Mayor William Jensen of Menasha who charged the "sewage disposal plant is a flop" at the Menasha council meeting Tuesday.

Martens said, "I read in the newspaper tonight where some of Menasha officials think the disposal plant is a flop, and I disagree with them." He added, "It isn't the plant's fault if storm water is flowing through the sanitary sewers. It's the city's fault."

Mayor Edwin A. Kalfahs explained that the job of the Neenah-Menasha sewage commission is to operate the plant, while the cities have charge of the sewer systems. Neenah hasn't relinquished jurisdiction over its sewer system, he explained, and the city has control of it in every way. He also pointed out that at every opportunity, Neenah is attempting to remedy the deficiencies in its system.

Finance Report
Alderman Emil Harder, chairman of the finance committee, reported that the city incurred 166 accounts last month amounting to $38,894.80, the larger ones being water and hydro power to $4,270.00; sand and gravel to $1,532.16; street lighting, $1,282; relief, $587.82; cement, $563.15; coal for city hall, $411.60, and premium on workmen's insurance, $402.68. Justice Gaylord C. Loehning reported the amount of fines and fees last month was $376.02 and Justice L. O. Cooke reported fines and fees amounting to $10.95.

Securing of property which juts out into Smith street from the Quinn Bros. was discussed. The mayor pointed out that the council offered them $200 for the land but they had refused. He said that they wanted repairs to a building on the property which probably would amount to $2,000 and that the land wasn't worth that much. The matter was referred to the mayor and attorney for further negotiation.

Sewer Pipe Bids
The clerk was authorized to advertise for bids for 6,770 feet of sewer pipe for PWA projects. The projects require 2,270 feet of 10 inch pipe, 1,000 feet of 12-inch pipe, 1,000 feet of 6-inch pipe and 2,500 feet of 8-inch pipe.

Alderman Andrew Andersen, chairman of the public improvements committee, reported that the committee rejected the proposal of painting traffic lanes on N. Commercial street. He declared it was inadvisable. He also recommended that the matter of installing abutments on the curb on the south side of W. Wisconsin be held over, explaining that the street soon will have to be resurfaced and the job could be done at that time. Both reports were accepted by the council.

Alderman Loehning reported that between 25 and 30 street signs which have been broken by children swinging on them will have to be replaced. He pointed out that the signs cost $4.50 each. The matter was referred to the police department. Alderman Martens pointed out that the telegraph poles in the middle of the sidewalk on W. Canal street be cut down. He suggested that the two wires be transferred to poles on the other side of the street. The matter was referred to the committee on utilities.

Alderman Edward Schultz' motion that the clerk advertise for bids for a sloaker for the city's house south of the city hall was carried.

Wants Clean-up
Alderman Richard O'Brien requested that the city clean up the property and street along W. North Water street, the flood water from the Fox river having deposited silt in yards and the street. Martin Wachholz, street commissioner, told the council that the work couldn't be started until the water completely receded. Mayor Kalfahs said that the matter would be taken care of as soon as possible.

Mayor Kalfahs told the council that the terms of Clarence Schultz, member of the cemetery commission, and I. J. Stafford of the water works commission, expired Oct. 1. He instructed the council to consider the vacancies and make appointments at the next meeting.

The mayor also reported that officials of Appleton High school have invited the council and the Neenah board of education to inspect the new structure at 7:30 Tuesday evening, Oct. 11.

Additional Sacrifices are Asked of Czechs as They Yield Fifth Sudeten Zone

by the international commission meeting at Berlin under a German chairman last night. It is to be occupied by the German army by Monday, Oct. 10.

It will bring the new frontier of expanding Germany to within 30 miles of Prague, Czechoslovakia's capital, at one point, at Leiternitz.

In addition, Hitler has a good chance of augmenting the German reich still further after plebiscites which the Munich conference agreed must be conducted by the end of November.

New Frontier

The commission marked out the new area for occupation by Monday, Oct. 10 by its decision last night. The new area moves the border at one point to within 30 miles of Prague.

Berlin dispatches published in Paris said Czechoslovak and British members of the international commission had been told by German that they could grant Germany the new territories or Nazi armies would take it—even at the risk of a war which the Munich accord was designed to prevent.

(These reports said the Munich accord, which had been explained to the French people as a "peace with honor," by constant German pressure had now been converted to almost exactly the terms of Hitler's Godesberg ultimatum—demanding cession of certain Sudeten territories by Oct. 1.)

'Reparations' Demand

The international commission charted the new zone as Germany prepared to bill Czechoslovakia for "reparations" dating back to 1918 and after the commission had bowed to the German viewpoint and accepted Oct. 28, 1918, as a population guide to determine where plebiscites would be held.

Hitler last night opened a campaign to wipe out what he termed Sudetenland's "hunger and cold."

In an address at the Sportplatz he exhorted the nation to show the same determined, sacrificial spirit in staving off distress as it had shown during the recent critical months.

A Czechoslovak Communique said that included in territory which Germany demands for immediate occupation were cities and towns in which the population is ethnically "pure Czech."

It asserted the German members of the commission demanded that plebiscites be held in areas in which Germans represent only two-tenths to 64 per cent of the population.

"To support their thesis,"

the communique continued, "the Germans are using statistics established before the World war by the Austro-Hungarian empire." (The commission agreed to accept population figures of Oct. 28, 1918—date of Czechoslovakia's foundation—but many observers said this actually meant reverting to the census of 1919.)

Real Language Ignored

The Czechs contend these figures did not take into account the real language of the people but only the language which Austrian law made official. Since officials of the Sudeten region were German-speaking appointees the statistics show many regions having pure Czech populations to be German.

The communique said that when the system of statistics was changed Oct. 18, 1918, and each district was left to choose its own official language many elected to make Czech the official tongue.

"The demands of the German experts tend to compromise the Munich accord by refusing the Czech people the same rights of free disposition which the Germans demand in favor of the Sudeten Germans," the communique said.

Not Hitler's Idea

Chamberlain said that he, not Hitler, drew up the British-German declaration of good will at Munich. He said it was not a pact, but his own and the fuhrer's "opinion of the desire of their respective peoples" never to go to war with each other again.

"I have been charged with cowardice, weakness, presumption and stupidity," the prime minister continued. "I have been accused of bringing the country to the edge of war and have been denied the merit of snatching it back to safety."

economic and political conference until there was a reasonable prospect of success and until "you are sure the totalitarian powers will attend."

"I do indeed believe we may yet secure peace for our time," Chamberlain said.

But he said he never suggested that could be attained by disarmament.

"Until we can induce others to disarm," he declared, disarmament means weakness.

College Involves Same Problems as Business-Towner

Lawrence Director of Admissions Is Speaker at Kiwanis Meeting

Getting students to come to a certain college involves the same problems as finding customers for goods, Dr. Milton C. Towner, director of admissions at Lawrence college, said in a talk before the Appleton Kiwanis club yesterday noon in the Conway hotel.

"We at Lawrence are faced with the same problems as you business men," Towner said. "We must deal with a constantly changing demand in the type of goods we offer and it is not always easy to find a public that is interested."

Colleges compete for students just like businesses compete for markets, Towner said. "There is cut throat competition in our field just as there is in yours. It has been only recently that some colleges have cooperated and agreed to respect certain principles in their quests for students. . . However, the great majority of colleges are not cooperating."

Towner cited a case in which five young men, registered and ready to attend one college, were persuaded to change their plans and enter another because "of a more attractive offer."

Getting a "clientele that will stay on over a number of years" is one of the aims at Lawrence, Towner said. "We are building" up the junior and senior years and now have a first-rate 4-year class," he said, remarking that 12 or 15 years ago, the upperclassmen were far in the minority.

Not 'Rich Man's College'

Lawrence is not a "rich man's college," Towner said, although it has students from wealthy families on its campus. "If you could know many of the students on the campus and their families you would realize the student of moderate means predominates."

The college loans "thousands of dollars" each year to help students who need money to get their education, Towner said. "It has been unusually good experience in paying the money back," the director of admissions stated.

The growth in the number of Illinois students has been rapid since the college established its office in Chicago, Towner said. In 1933, there were 52 Illinois students on the Lawrence campus. This year, there are 83 new students from that state and about 200 in all.

Woman Fined for Immoral Conduct

Case Involves Merrit Bacon, Appleton, Who is Serving Prison Term

Oshkosh — Miss Lillian Harju, 26, accused in a complaint signed by Mrs. Hazel C. Bacon, Appleton, of illegally cohabiting with Merrit Bacon, Appleton, who now is serving a sentence at the Waupun state prison for embezzlement, was fined $100 and costs in municipal court at Oshkosh yesterday on an immoral conduct charge.

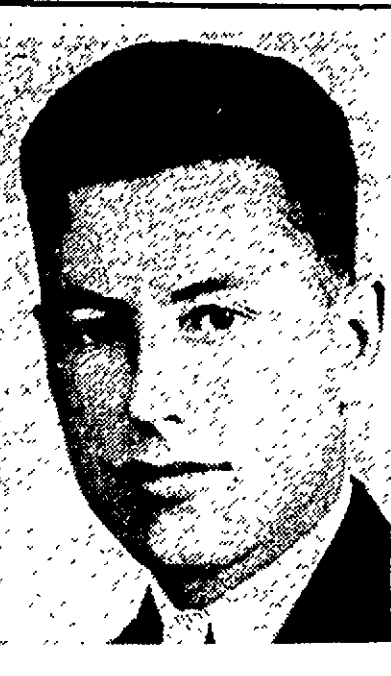

Miss Harju, formerly of Oshkosh and now of Elmhurst, waived preliminary hearing before Judge S. J. Luchsing and entered a plea of guilty through her attorney, R. C. Dempsey. The attorney made a plea for leniency for Miss Harju who, he said, is now the unmarried mother of a 10-months-old child and has the responsibility of its support.

District Attorney Lewis C. Magnusen "told the court that Mrs. Bacon said her husband resorted to embezzlement in order to maintain a "love nest" in Oshkosh for Miss Harju. Dempsey answered that the amount Bacon, an investor, embezzled was in excess of $75,000 and that no such amount was needed to keep Miss Harju in her $40 a month Oshkosh apartment.

The defendant is at present living with Bacon's mother at Elmhurst. Judge Luchsing imposed the fine rather than a prison sentence to save Miss Harju the "embarrassment" of being a probationer. He said "he was inclined to deal leniently with the case, knowing "men are weak" and said Bacon was "probably the aggressor in this whole affair."

PLEADS GUILTY

Arthur Kanaman, Caladonia, waived preliminary hearing and pleaded guilty of non-support in municipal court of Judge Thomas H. Ryan yesterday afternoon. Sentence was deferred for a week.

Registrations Will be Taken for WPA Program

Registrations for the winter sports program to be supervised by WPA play leaders will be taken Oct. 17 and 18, Hazel F. Bannister, WPA recreational supervisor in Outagamie county, announced today.

To be of real value to the community, Mrs. Bannister said, a recreation program must be broad enough in its scope to include all ages and both sexes.

"WPA offers just such a program," Mrs. Bannister said. "It is planned to bring together various individuals to create an interest in the needs of others and to stimulate higher social standards."

"The aim and ambition of the WPA movement is primarily to keep them informed about folk customs and to help them attain varied skills in various fields through which there may be a release for creative expression," she continued.

"The WPA program this year will serve as a means of expanding intellectual, social and creative interests giving special attention to those whose opportunities for leisure are limited by economic conditions," Mrs. Bannister stated.

Registrations may be filed at Mrs. Bannister's office at 108 E. College avenue.

BROTHER...I'D RATE THIS WHISKEY AROUND $3.69 A QUART

●Inquiring reporters went last month to 1,000 men—men in all walks of life—living in various parts of the nation. The object was to get 1,000 men's opinions regarding Old Quaker, now 3 years old.

RESULT: The average net opinion of these 1,000 men was this: 3-year Old Quaker rivals many fine whiskeys that are much more expensive! And specifically—3-year Old Quaker is worth $1.39 MORE per quart than its actual selling price.

We make the claim: Old Quaker at 3 years old has reached its Golden Age. Mature on every count—due to our special lighted on Hugo, his face cleared. I knew only too well what he was thinking. Here was yet one more of his niece's victims, jealous that she had chosen another escort to show her round the fair.

THE CLOUDED MOON

By MAX SALTMARSH

"Well," he said slowly, "I guess the Baron should know what he's talking about. Mr. Stern, you'll find Otilie is made that way—sudden decisions and impulsive actions, but she doesn't mean a mite of harm. If she wants me, though, I imagine I'd better be getting along. Where did you say she was waiting, Baron? In the main street?"

"In the main street, yes!" the small, fat man assented with a triumphant glance at us. "I take you there right away, no?" But now it was Dunning's turn to protest.

"See here, Mr. Willis," he drawled, "there's a crush out there by now. It's scarcely the kind of spot for Miss Otilie to be wandering around in. Why not let Mr. Stern and Mr. Lumsden, here go along and bring her back?"

"Cuthbert," Virgoe Willis said dryly, "you're well-meaning, but you're not so bright as you'd like to be. There's nothing in the kind of innocent fun that's going on out there to offend Otilie. Lead the way, Baron," and with that he turned and stumped firmly out to the terrace.

We stood there, three angry, helpless men. Dunning's face was very anxious, and in the silence I heard him mutter, half to himself: "It's come—it's come at last."

"Leave it to me," said I, for an idea had struck me. I sprinted after the two receding figures.

"Mr. Willis," I said, a trifle breathlessly, "You won't mind if we come, along with you? My friend Stern is rather anxious to have a word with your niece."

He halted, fixing his wise, shrewd old eyes on me.

"Mr. Lumsden, quite a number of young men have been anxious to have a word with Otilie in the past, and most times the result of that word has been a heart-ache for them and a scalp in the war-belt for her. I like your friend, and a man of his age takes a hurt harder."

"Willis," I answered soberly, lowering my voice to meet his "hasn't it occurred to you that one day Otilie might get tired of scalp-collecting—I mean, prefer to acquire one permanent specimen and discard the others? Hugo's a fine chap. You wouldn't find a better nephew-in-law anywhere."

"Does Otilie like him that much?" And when I nodded, "Well, well," he said thoughtfully, "that takes a considerable weight off my mind, for he looks as if he could handle her." He turned to Hugo and Dunning and halted tentatively a few feet away. "Gentlemen," he called genially, "string right along behind us, if you wish; and you, Baron, you won't mind joining them? Mr. Lumsden and I have certain matters of importance to discuss." The Baron swallowed hard, gave me one swift, malevolent look, and turned, with a deferential bow, back to where the others waited.

I was gratified to see that Hugo and Dunning automatically formed up on either side of him, linking their arms in his in the friendliest way imaginable, and I was still more pleased that the old man had chosen me as his companion, for I was by a long way the biggest of the three and would therefore make the best shield for him when trouble started. And that trouble would shortly start I had not the smallest doubt.

Completely Unaware

As we turned from the sun-plate of the front into a narrow side-street, thronged with straying merry-makers, I saw that my friend, the Arab carpet seller had fallen into place between us and the other three. A second later two husky-looking sailors emerged from an alley and strolled on just ahead of us. Dunning's reinforcements were rolling up, and it was a considerable relief to my mind.

But the work of both advance and rear-guard was becoming complicated, for with every step we ling, came a gangling, dust-colored figure that I knew.

The wretched creature whistled shrilly. From the milling crowd of people ahead there sprang a second figure, thin stringy, with a flying mop of tow-colored hair, and in its hand I saw something short, black, and deadly, pointed straight at Virgoe's Willis' heart.

I sprang forward, trying to throw myself in front of the old man, but there were strong hands gripping my arms, holding me back. I struggled wildly, waiting for the sickening report, the whisp of smoke that would herald death, and in that instant, which seemed to hold eternity, something else happened.

PACED by Bud Ecker, Appleton Machine Co. bowlers rattled the maples for a new high team game of 1,118 for the season during Industrial league matches at Arcade alleys last night. The mark is just four pins shy of the all-time record and probably will remain untouched during the current season. Ecker bagged high individual series of 611 and tied for high individual game with Malcolm Buck of Wadhams Oils at 243. Appleton Coated Paper collaborated on a 2-927 high team series.

Three-game victories featured matches last night with league leaders on the short ends of the score. Atlas Embossers displaced Montgomery Ward in first place with a clean sweep when Orson Kranzsch banged a 214 game and 562 series. C. Stoffel topped the losers with a 465 total.

Schlafers Supply Co. rose to the heights when the quint took three games from Johnson Shoe Rebuild and Len Burtons 248. D'Arcy McGee thumped a 221 game and 568 series for the winners while Wally Gresenz showed a 205 game and 581 series and O. Strutz grooved a 220 game for the losing five.

Six Straight Strikes
Post-Crescent continued to be the league's door mat with the Machine aggregation winning three games. In their big game, Ecker counted his 243 for the Machine with Otto Sager going 198, Jerry Oswalt 207 and Len Burtons 248. Ecker started off with a 200 game for his series. Sager stepped out in the second game with six straight strikes but faltered to end up with a "mere" 223 count. Eddie Starnard topped the losers with a 516 total.

Tuttle Press had been going along at a good clip but bumped into Plank's Dandy Rollers and lost three straight. Ken Strutz paced the winners with a 494 total while Chet Merkle was high for Tuttle Press with 512.

Getting revenge for the recent softball series, Coated Papers took Woolen Mills down the line for three games and smashed a high team series for the season. Lloyd Schroeder was the big gun of the Coated attack with games of 226 and 201 for a 696 series. C. Heinritz scored 208 and N. Schmidt 201. Ray Crane topped Woolens with a 566 series.

Power Company won two games from Wadhams Oils as Lloyd Fumal paced the winners with 233 game and 571 series while Antonetti hit 200. Reynebau cracked games of 206 and 207 for a 598 series and Buck hit 243 for the losers.

Two games were credited to Fox River in a match with Atlas Printers. Everett Wegner topped the pins for games of 201 and 211 for a 588 total and S. Bauman bowled 205 Jerry Zapp was high for the Printers with games of 208 and 204 for a 597 series and Klein had 203. Al's Tavern, formerly the Telephone, won two games from Pond Sports with Roy McCallum getting a 201 game and 515 series. Bob Kunitz was tops for the losers with a 212 game and 584 series.

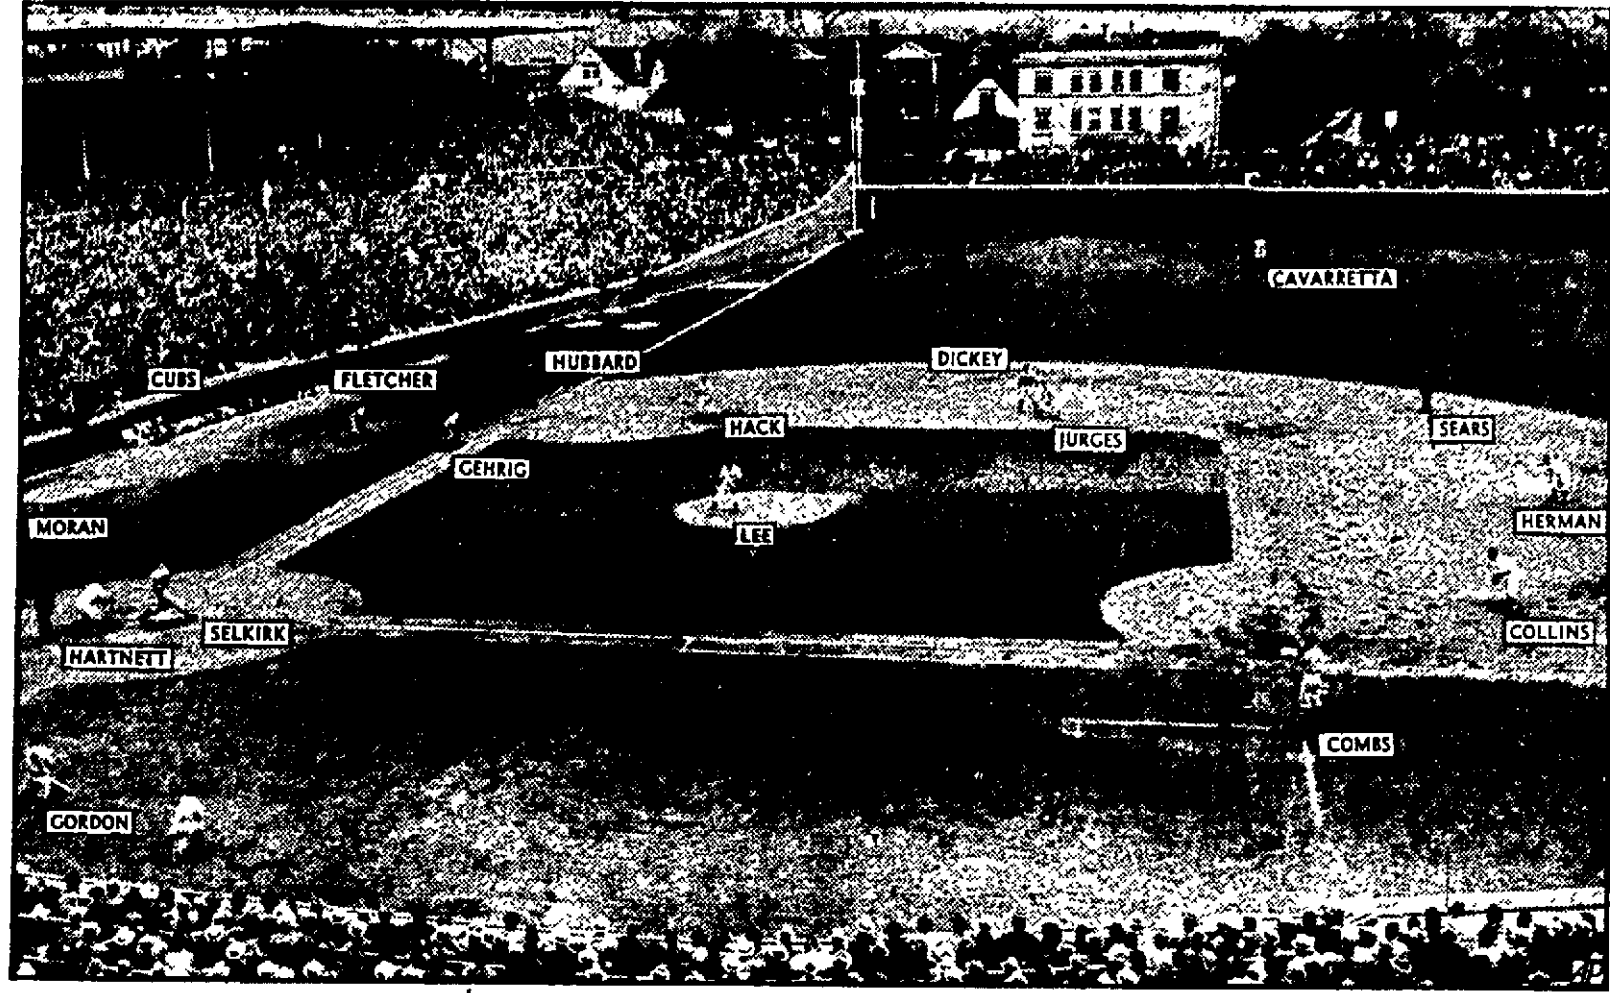

Baltimore — Tad Baldwin, 141, Baltimore, outpointed Leroy Zinkham, 137, Baltimore (10).

WHEN FIRST YANKEE RUN WAS BORN IN OPENING GAME OF SERIES

This was the setting in the second inning of the World Series opener in Chicago when the New York Yankees manufactured their first run of a 3 to 1 victory. Lou Gehrig was on third after getting on via a pass and moving around on Bill Dickey's hit. With a man on second and another on third, it was George Selkirk at bat as shown here. Billy Herman

BY GAYLE TALBOT
CHICAGO — (AP) — Knocked silly by Yankee power and stifled by Yankee pitching in the opening game of the World series, the Chicago Cubs place what little trust they have left today in the ailing right arm of the once-great Dizzy Dean.

If Dizzy, a World series hero back in 1934, can summon for one more afternoon the wizardry that once belonged to him, there is a thin chance that the Cubs can beat this great Yankee machine and make a fight of the championship.

But it is not a proposition to bet on. Even the verbose Dizzy was shocked into comparative silence when Manager Gabby Hartnett told him last night he would send him out there to silence the Yankee bats and square the series.

High, Hard One Gone
Those who remember the swagging Dizzy of 1934, when he came back with one day's rest to shut out Detroit in the seventh game of the big series, might find this difficult to absorb. But they must consider that Dizzy doesn't have his "high, hard one" any more, and that he got an impressive eye-full of the Yankees as they slugged 12 hits in taking the opener, 3 to 1.

Dean faces them today with a fighting heart still as big as a gallon jug, and there is something a little exciting about his being out there trying to hold down one of the most murderous collections of hitters in history with only his control and a fair curve ball. It is romantic, even, yet the chances are that Bill Dickey and his playmates will pop Dizzy like they popped Bill Lee yesterday, and that the champions will head back home tonight with a 2-0 lead in the series.

What chance the Cubs had of beating the Yanks was tied up in Lee. Now it looks more or less hopeless, barring a collapse of the American leaguers, and that is difficult to imagine. In Lefty Gomez, who has won five straight games, once manager of the Louisville Colonels, and is eager to accept the Milwaukee job, is a pitcher who has won five straight games, once manager of the Louisville Colonels, and is eager to accept the Milwaukee job.

Sothoron is presumably to be dismissed because of incompetence something on the order of disorderly conduct on the ball field, and failure to protect interests of the other stockholders. (Mr. Sothoron owns approximately one-seventh of outstanding Brewer stock, as well as a contract which has three runs to run.)

Marquette Will Take to Air Against Methodists

In a dummy review of plays yesterday, Driscoll indicated Marquette would use passes to counteract the Methodists' strong aerial attack.

Chaffin Chatter

By Gordon R. McIntyre

IF YOU'RE sitting at home thinking about the series and what you'd like to be there and what great ball is being played, forget about the great ball. At least that's what Mickey Cochrane, formerly manager of Detroit, says in a recent article in one of the weekly magazines. "Mickey is of the opinion series ball is terrible. Here's what he says in part:

"Season records and statistics, phooey," Cochrane writes. "You can take them and print 'em in the latest edition of Joe Miller's Joke Book. They are about as valuable in reckoning as the latest figures on carloadings in Iowa and the number of inches of rainfall in the Belgian Congo. Mathematicians tell you the figures don't lie, but any grand jury would indict batting, fielding and pitching averages for perjury when it comes to getting them to tell the truth in a world series. It just so happens that in too many cases during the series a batter with a fat average suddenly suffers a case of astigmatism or something up there at the plate and a fielder with a flawless record lets the grounders spray through him like a garden hose."

After citing numerous instances from baseball history to prove his statement, such as the 1934 series in which the Cards and the Tigers committed a total of 27 errors in seven games, Cochrane gives two

Little World Series
With Newark Bears

Kansas City — (AP) — It will be a case of "let George do it" when the Kansas City Blues seek to break a two-year deadlock by winning the fifth game of the Little World Series from the Newark Bears tonight.

Husky George Washburn pitched to just one Newark batter last night, but was credited with the 9 to 8 Blue victory which squared the series, and Manager Bill Meyer is going to let George try to make it two in a row tonight.

Manager Johnny Neven of the Bears indicated he would send Joe Beggs to the mound to oppose Washburn.

A paid crowd of 15,272 was treated to all varieties of baseball last night, and when the firing had ceased a total of 28 hits had bounced from the bats of the two clubs, six errors had blotted the box score, and seven pitchers had passed in review.

Tennis Pros Stage
Net Clinic at Neenah
Neenah—High school tennis players from Neenah and Menasha got the "low down" on how tennis should be played at a clinic conducted by Lloyd Budge and Walter Senior, two noted professionals, Wednesday afternoon at Neenah High school.

Despite the cold weather, the two pros gave the young tennis players an exhibition on the courts following a lecture on fundamentals in the gymnasium.

Ivan Williams, Neenah tennis coach, and the Menasha tennis coach had their players at the clinic which was sponsored by the Doty Tennis club. Hugh Strange, Jr., club president, was in charge of the clinic.

Budge, a brother of Don Budge, world's amateur champion, is a pro at the Miami Biltmore club, and Senior is the Canadian national tennis champion.

Baltimore — (AP) — Seabiscuit and War Admiral will finally match strides Nov. 1 at Pimlico—and a $5,000 forfeit says they will. . . . Fitting negotiations were concluded last night with Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt. They had gone on since Charles S. Howard decided his "Biscuit" was in no condition for the cancelled $100,000 Decoration day match at Belmont.

Samuel D. Riddle, owner of War Admiral, signed the pact in New York for the mile and three-sixteenths race which will be worth $15,000 to the winner. Each horse will carry 120 pounds.

The Maryland Jockey club, of which Vanderbilt is vice president, agreed to post $10,000 and each owner immediately put up $5,000, if either decides his horse is unfit the other will go on the track for a walk-over and collect $10,000—half from the forfeit and half from the club. Pimlico faithfuls thereby are assured of a look at a horse, if nothing more.

Milwaukee Baseball Team
May Have New Manager Next Spring

Milwaukee — Mgr. Allan Sothoron has been dismissed as manager of the Milwaukee Baseball club and Burleigh Grimes, former star major league pitcher and for two seasons pilot of the sapless Brooklyn Dodgers, will be his successor, according to reports current here today.

For two weeks efforts have been made to smoke the other Milwaukee club officials out of their "fox holes," as far as Manager Sothoron is concerned, and while President Henry Bendinger denies any conference with Judge K. M. Landis of the situation it is a known fact that Grimes, once manager of the Louisville Colonels, will be retained at Brooklyn and is eager to accept the Milwaukee job.

Sothoron is presumably to be dismissed because of incompetence something on the order of disorderly conduct on the ball field, and failure to protect interests of the other stockholders. Bays Worried About Detroit

Lambeau Fears That Lions Will be Out for Blood Sunday

GREEN BAY—They're out for blood, those Detroit Lions who invade Packarddom this weekend, and Coach Curly Lambeau, who will send the colorful Green Bay squad out on the field Sunday afternoon isn't one to think any different.

In the four last National Professional Football league starts against the Packers, the Lions have taken whippings, none of them too good natured. Besides that, Dutch Clark saw his machine set back 21 to 17 by Cleveland last Sunday.

Since the Lions moved to Detroit, they have been knocked around considerably by the aggressive Bays. The Packers have won seven of the nine games since 1934, piling up 143 points to the Lions' 83.

Scores of Games
It was even in 1934, each team winning one by 3 to 0. In 1935 the Packers took the first hurdle, 13 to 9 and the second 31 to 7, but dropped the third contest, 20 to 10. The Packers won both in 1937, 20 to 19 and 26 to 17. Last year it was 14 to 13 and 26 to 6 for the Green Bay outfit.

Today Dutch Clark and his Lions are fighting to stay in the running for this season. They had little trouble beating Pittsburgh, 16-7, in their first league encounter. Last Sunday, however, a hot Cleveland aggregation turned a surprise for a 21 to 17 win.

Detroit Has Power
Lambeau, however, and others who make it their business to keep an eye on things, do not minimize the prowess of the Detroit Lions. Most of the tough lads who caused grief to league opponents in recent years are back, and in addition there is an impressive array of recruit talent on the roster.

For the quarterback post Clark has himself. Huffman of Indiana and Kent Ryan of Utah State. Halfbacks include Caddell of Stanford, Cardwell of Nebraska, Nash and McDonald of Ohio State, Vanzo of Northwestern and Barle of Minnesota State Teachers. At fullback will be Ace Gutowsky of Oklahoma City, Szakash of Montana and Bill Shepherd of Western Maryland.

Plenty Good Ends
Stars holding end positions are Kiewicki of Michigan State, Moser of Stanford, Hanneman of Michigan State, Morse of Oregon and Patti of Carnegie Tech. The ends are Christensen of Oregon, Johnson of Utah, Rogers of Villanova, Reynolds of Stanford and Tony Matis of Pitt.

Big names, too, for guards, such as Wagner of Michigan State, Monahan of Ohio State, Graham of Tulsa, Feldhaus of Cincinnati, and Radovich of Southern California. At center will be Stokes of Centenary, Mackenroth of North Dakota and Wojciechowicz of Fordham.

Johnny VandenBurg, with a 240 game, had the next best individual score. The Cardinals and Lions, with six wins against three losses each, are tied for first place.

In the Cardinals-Giants battle this week, Earl Feldhaus led the losers, with a 553 series and a 192 game. G. Trenlage had a 540 series and a 216 game and R. Heise a 221 game. Lions won the odd game from the Rams who were led by Marvin Schuler with a 559 series and Bill Erickson with a 549 series. Schuler's best game was a 196 and Erickson's a 183. Rams were led by C. Piepenberg with a 571 series and a 205 game, the latter being equaled by Orville Reiffe.

The Eagles pulled the Bears 11-1 to tie for third, fourth and fifth when they copied two 700's and forced to roll a 920 and 955 to win. V. Wildenberg paced the winners with a 619 series and a 248 game. For the losers, Johnnie VandenBurg rolled a 556 series and a 240 game followed by Henning with a 214 game.

Redskins caught the Packers napping and romped off with the odd game. Red Zeders led the Redskins with a 572 series and had six games of 228 and 203. The feminine member of the squad, Lucille Pretz, also kept pace with the male bowlers showing a 538 series and a 183 game. Flora Schuler had a 196 series.

Eagles took team honors with a 2,702 and 908.

Oshkosh Gagers Will Open Loop Season on Nov. 26

Exhibition Games Again Are Scheduled at Menasha High Gym

OSHKOSH—The most difficult schedule for the Oshkosh All Stars, professional basketball team, in the nine years of its existence is now being drawn up for the 1938-39 campaign by Lonnie Darling, manager and owner of last season's Western division champions.

Manager Darling attended the National Basketball league meeting at Detroit, Sunday, at which the league official was drawn up, listing 28 league games for the All Stars and five exhibition contests with league opponents.

In addition to games with teams in the circuit, the All Stars will play the leading traveling teams in the country here and in other cities. One of the quintets to be met will be Jesse Owens' famed Olympians, considered one of the top teams in the country. The noted colored sprint star who was outstanding in the Olympic games will bring his team here early in January.

Another aggregation fans of Oshkosh and the Fox river valley have been waiting to see is the Philadelphia Hebrews, who will come here to return for a visit to the east the All Stars made last year. The Hebrews beat Oshkosh in two games, one of them in New York City, the defeat being the first for the All Stars last season after winning 15 straight. On a trip west two years ago the Sphas were beaten twice by the All Stars so that the games are being looked forward to with interest.

Play Colored Five
The Harlem Globe Trotters are again on the All Star schedule, the team being one of the best colored aggregations in the midwest. Last season the Oshkosh five was pushed to the limit before a capacity crowd at Waupaca to win by a 24 to 22 score.

Fans are asking for the return of the New York Renaissance, colored champions for years, whose rivalry with the All Stars dates back over a long period. The House of David, greatly revised and with new players added including Eugene Brownell, who tried out with the All Stars last year, will come here as will the Cicero Elks and the Chicago Duffy Fencers.

The Oshkosh pro gagers will also play teams in various Wisconsin cities and in cities in other states in the midwest. The schedule will open Saturday, Nov. 12, with the Superior, Wis. Oilers. There will be exhibition games with the Akron, O. Firestones, Nov. 20, 21, 22 and 24 at Menasha, Antigo, DePere, and Fond du Lac, respectively. Another exhibition game will be played with the Akron, O. Goodyears, league champion, Dec. 11 either at Menasha or Madison.

League Schedule
The league schedule is as follows:

Dec. 3—Fort Wayne, Ind., at Oshkosh.

Lazzeri Didn't Tell Hack What to Pitch to Gehrig

BY EARL HILLIGAN
CHICAGO—(AP)—From the packed stands came a mighty roar as a young ball player named Phil Cavarretta whipped the ball from deep right field directly into the glove of Stan Hack at third base.

Today, from some of the smartest minds in baseball, came the opinion that Cavarretta, by his direct throw to third base in a futile attempt to catch Lou Gehrig, committed the "error of judgment" which defeated Chicago's Cubs yesterday and sent the New York Yankees into today's second game favorites to win—and possibly sweep the 1938 series.

"The throw should have been low, instead of high, so that one of the infielders could have cut it off and held Bill Dickey on first," agreed such men as Jimmy Dykes, Charlie Dressen, Larry MacPhail, Mickey Cochran, and Buckly Harris. They all pointed out that: Had the throw been low, Dickey might have been out at second on Hack's relay or most likely never would have tried to make second. With Dickey held to first, Second Baseman Bill Herman of the Cubs would have played deep on the next man and might have come up with a double play on George Selkirk's easy bouncer, on which he charged in very fast. As it happened, Herman erred as Gehrig scored and Joe Gordon came up with a single to score Dickey with the deciding run.

The Yanks' No. 1 bench "jockey," Coach Art Fletcher, gave the Cubs a merciless razzing throughout the contest. "Have you got power?" yelled Fletcher, then added: "Yeh—in the clubhouse." And other ribs: "Cut yourselves in for a loser's share, you generous boys—you cut Charlie Grimm out." Manager Hartnett scowled sourly once when he walked past the Yank dugout and heard: "Hi, big bulge!"

It was nice to believe—but Tony Lazzeri was not masterminding on Lou Gehrig in the sixth inning when he whispered something in Stan Hack's ear. Gehrig, with Tom Henrich on second, struck out and it was thought that Lazzeri, the former Yank, had told Hack to advise Bill Lee to keep the ball low—where he did place it to fan Lou. But after the game Hack exploded the mystery. All

Cub officials reported 40 per cent of their ticket sale was to out-of-town fans and estimated they brought some $800,000 into the cash registers of Chicago business men.

Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York, who bet Mayor Kelly of Chicago a box of cigars against a prize hog that the Yanks would win the series, was asked if he brought the stogies along. "None, I didn't," he replied, "but I did bring a loaf of yeast bread so I can send Mayor Kelly a ham sandwich."

Manders Brothers May Upset Wildcat Eleven

BY WESLEY CARTY
CHICAGO—(AP)—Northwestern's coach, Lynn Waldorf, has been busy this week knocking the confidence out of his Wildcats.

And its all because of a couple of guys named Manders. The Wildcats meet Drake and the brothers Manders in Dyche stadium up in Evanston Saturday. The Manders boys, Pug and Phil, are brothers of the famous "Automatic Jack" Manders of the Chicago Bears of the National Professional Football league.

The two Manders boys with Drake bring with them a reputation for feats on the collegiate gridiron which Waldorf fears may cause his Wildcat eleven to be upset.

Dizzy Dean Hope Of Chicago Cubs In Second Game

ever was, you couldn't prove it by the 43,642 chilled fans who watched them perform yesterday. It wasn't that Lee didn't pitch good ball, or that the Cubs didn't field brilliantly for the most part and go down swinging from their bootstraps. It was just that the Yankees were a little better in every department.

Rufus "Red" Ruffing was touched for nine hits, which is not exactly phenomenal pitching. Yet it seemed that every time the Cubs got a man on base and looked like they might do something, either Frankie Crosetti, the Yankee shortstop, or Joe Gordon, the champions' great rookie second-baseman, would come up with a dazzling stop and throw to spike the rally.

Stan Hack, leading hitter on the Chicago team, lived up to his record by collecting three singles, the second of which drove across Rip Collins with the lone run for the losers. Gabby Hartnett, playing with two painfully damaged fingers, supplied the home fans with their biggest thrill when his drive into right field got past Henrich for a three-bagger.

About the only consolation the Cubs had was that they stopped Joe DiMaggio without a hit. Buckly Harris, manager of the Washington Nats, noted the fact and whistled: "Boy, I'll bet that made Joe sore. Watch what he does to them from here on!" However, Bill Dickey, Yank catcher, came up with four singles.

The Yankees are anxious to win the series in five games at the most, so that they can finish in their own stadium and attend the annual "victory banquet" thrown by their owner, Colonel Jake Ruppert. If they wind up the series at Yankee Stadium, they will have to travel to New York for the series finale.

Yankee pitching summary: Off Lee, 3 runs, 11 hits in eight innings; off Ruffing, 5 runs, 11 hits in eight innings; off Dickey, 3 runs, 11 hits in eight innings; off Crosetti, 2 runs, 11 hits in eight innings; Get Poor Results In Effort to Find Louis Challenger

Lou Nova Only Candidate To Emerge From Lower Strata of Heavyweights

NEW YORK—(AP)—The search for a heavyweight to mix on something like even terms with Joe Louis goes on with great fervor and astonishingly poor results.

Lou Nova, the crude but powerful Californian who stopped Gunnar Barlund Monday night, is the only candidate to emerge from the lower strata of heavyweights. The great mass of truck drivers, farm hands and steel workers that usually nurtures the contenders has supplied exactly nothing.

All the other contenders have old and somewhat tarnished names. A glance at the ranking list reveals such familiar monickers as Max Baer, Tony Galento and Tommy Farr.

Nova gained considerable stature by eliminating Barlund. True, it wasn't a decisive victory. The Gunnar cuts easily and when a gash over his left eye started to pump blood in the seventh, Artie Donovan waved the Finn to his corner.

"Stand Up" Style

Until then, except for the third round, it was all Nova. He is a big, bronzed kid who fights in a "stand up" style reminiscent of the figures in British boxing prints.

It took the hottest National baseball league race in years to eliminate Galento from the sports pages, but the round one will be back there swinging — and hollering — this winter. It will not be surprising if Galento emerges as the best contender and lands a fall shot at the champion, although the thought of what Louis' jab will do to Tony's scarred noggin causes strong men to shudder.

Great care has been exercised to keep Baer out of the ring. He probably will meet the Bomber with no preparation save a tune-up with some warrior with the fighting qualities of, say, Shirley Temple.

Broker Comes Out 2nd In Fight With Net Star

NEW YORK—(AP)—Cafe society was talking about a new fistcliff champion today — the doubtful honors resting on the handsome brow of Frank X. Shields, tennis star, socialite and Hollywood actor.

Shields won the title in a fast one-round go with Yale man and broker James D. S. Coleman in the foyer of the El Morocco, one of the town's most glamorous night spots.

The beginning was vague. The end came quickly when Shields served a hard ace to Coleman's eye.

Fans Again Start Wielding Chairs at Menasha's Pro Wrestling Contests

MENASHA—It was more like old times at the professional wrestling show at S. A. Cook armory Wednesday night. Some of the fans who take their grappling seriously provided extra excitement between bouts when they threatened Buzz Reynolds, Salt Lake City roughie, with up-raised chairs. Speedy Franks, the referee, was out on the floor trying to keep peace and even Stan Pesek, who a moment before had been tangling with Reynolds, was ready to come to his assistance.

Reynolds was the toughest throughout the match employing the usual routine of strangles, gouging, kicking and blows. As the referee, Speedy Franks entered the mixing freely himself. Pesek had the hero role and refused several times to accept the bout when Franks offered him a forfeit. He finally got rough too, but as he was the hero, received only cheers when he tossed Reynolds around the ring.

Reynolds finally was disqualified after 28 minutes of milling when he attempted to massage Pesek's Adam's apple on the ropes. After Franks had called the first fall, Reynolds refused to quit and the two had an extra minute of fast action.

Fans Go After Reynolds

There was no fall in the remaining part of the time and gymnastics was varied and effective. After the going ended the bout Reynolds took one more kick at Pesek and fled from the ring. A husky spectator met him with a flying block that would have paved the way for a touchdown on the football field and several of the more rabid fans raised chairs. Harmony was restored without any damage done.

Gorilla Poggi and Joe Dorsetti, both of them villains, clashed in the windup but the crowd favored Poggi and urged him to get tough. Poggi won the match with two out of three falls. The first fall went to Joe when he forced the Gorilla to give up after 11 minutes with a towel. Poggi remembered to limp out of the ring but forgot as soon as he got as far as the dressing room steps.

Poggi took the second fall in five minutes with a succession of body slams ending up with a body press in which he used Dorsetti's mop of hair for a handle. Maybe it was the fact that Gorilla Poggi had not a single hair on his head that cramped Dorsetti's style, but the saluting Italian was far from his usual tough self. He crawled through the ropes at every opportunity. Some of the fans took exception to his tactics and he engaged in a mild argument on the way to the dressing room after the second fall.

Dorsetti Humbled

Dorsetti really was humbled in the third fall for the tough guy was forced to call for mercy. He gave up after 10 minutes when Poggi adopted the simple routine of standing and jumping on one arm while attempting to pull the other out at the socket.

The opener was a rather mild affair in which Dickie Gerber and Andy Borzick went through their routine for several minutes without stirring up much excitement. When Gerber opened up with his own version of the back breaker, the going got too tough for Borzick and Gerber took the fall in eight minutes.

FWD Footballers Bow to Foxes, 9-0

Merrill Scores Safety in Third Period, Touchdown in Fourth

CLINTONVILLE—Last night the Clintonville FWD Trucker football team was defeated 9 to 0 by the Merrill Fromm Foxes in a game played at the city ball park. Neither team showed an extraordinary offense and all the scoring came on breaks.

The Trucker again were handicapped by the loss of Wagner, Guller and Schroeder who didn't show up for the game. They are from Shawano.

Merrill made one serious attempt near the end of the first quarter advancing the ball to the 14-yard line but then was tagged with a 15 yard penalty for holding. On a long pass, the ball was brought to the 15-yard line but the Trucks held and the Foxes lost the ball on downs.

In the second quarter Dahm got off a bad punt for the Trucks and the ball was downed on Clintonville's 31. Merrill tried several running plays and a pass but all failed to gain. On the fourth down, the Foxes attempted a place kick which Dahm caught and brought back to the 12. A bad pass from center went into the end zone and Wally Kruse, fullback for the Trucks, downed the ball giving Merrill 2 points.

Merrill added a touchdown to the safety in the closing minutes of the

Badgers Polish Pass Attack in Last Hard Drill

Stuhldreher Drills Charges On Protection for Throwers

MADISON—(AP)—The University of Wisconsin football team was pass conscious last night in their final hard drill before the Iowa game at Iowa City, Saturday.

Stuhldreher has been dissatisfied with the protection given his throwers and drilled his charges on this phase of the game. Both the first and second teams were included in the workout.

A full team with the exception of tackles went on the offense with a freshman line as opposition. Roy Bollin, Bill Schmitz, and Tony Gradinski, all halfbacks, and Howie Weiss, fullback, were hitting the mark consistently.

John O'Brien and Dick Embick, guards, drew praise from Stuhldreher for their fine work, and Weiss and George Parkvan were backfield standouts.

Again last night, Gradinski was at left halfback, and it becomes more and more evident that Stuhldreher is going to start the lightweight Milwaukeean at that post Saturday.

John Tennant, reserve halfback, who showed well against Marquette last week, again played fine ball on the reserve squad and should see some action against the Hawks.

Don't Dope Yourself For That "Morning After" Head

When your head throbs and you feel "upset" from too much food or drink—

Don't suffer all day. Just mix 1/2 of a glass of Pluto Water with 4/5 of a glass of hot water. And—

IN 1 HOUR YOU'LL BE "HITTING ON HIGH"

WHEN you have over-indulged and are "paying the piper," don't dope yourself, but get rid of the cause of the trouble.

The quickest and easiest way to do this is to simply mix 1/2 of a glass of Pluto Water with 4/5 of a glass of hot water. Usually in one hour, or less, the excess wastes in the intestinal tract will be cleared away. When this happens you'll be amazed to see how much better you'll feel.

Millions have followed this quick way to get rid of "morning-after" head.

So, next time you have over-indulged in eating or drinking, get a bottle of Pluto Water from your druggist.

A Statement of Public Policy
by The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company

The Honorable Wright Patman, representative in Congress of the first district of Texas, has announced that he will introduce in the next Congress a punitive and discriminatory tax bill frankly designed to put chain stores out of business. In the past, Mr. Patman has been very successful in securing enactment of legislation which he has sponsored. He has demonstrated that he is a very able lobbyist and propagandist for his own bills. The management of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company is therefore faced with the necessity of deciding upon a course of action in relation to this proposed legislation—whether to do nothing and risk the possibility of the passage of the bill and the resulting forced dissolution of this business, or to engage in an active campaign in opposition to the bill.

In arriving at a decision, the interests of several groups of people deserve consideration—the management, the 85,600 employees of the company, the consuming public, the millions of farmers producing the country's food, and labor.

1. The Interests of the Management

The interests of the management can be dismissed as of very little importance.

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company is managed by George L. Hartford and John A. Hartford under an arrangement made by their father, George Huntington Hartford, the founder of the business. George L. Hartford has been actively engaged in the grocery business for 58 years, working generally six days a week, 52 weeks a year during that entire period. John A. Hartford has been actively engaged in the grocery business for 50 years, working generally six days a week, 52 weeks a year during that period. Both of these men could, of course, retire without personal or financial inconvenience and live very comfortably if chain stores were put out of business. The record of the last calendar year shows that out of any money earned annually from the business, in the case of George L. Hartford, 82 percent is paid to government in taxes; in the case of John A. Hartford, 83 percent is paid to government in taxes. As neither of the brothers has any children, any monies left out of their earnings would accrue to their estates, and in the event of their death, inheritance taxes would probably amount to two-thirds of such accrued earnings, leaving approximately 6 cents on the dollar as a motive for continued personal service.

It is therefore apparent that the interests of management need hardly be taken into consideration in arriving at a decision.

2. The Interests of the Employees

The interests of the employees of the company are, however, a matter of very grave concern.

It is simply a statement of fact to say that the employees of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company generally throughout the United States receive the highest wages and have the shortest working hours of any workers in the grocery business, whether chain store or individual grocer. Many of them have devoted all of their working lives to the interests of the company.

The management, therefore, has a definite obligation and duty to defend the interests of these 85,600 employees against legislation intended to throw all of them out of work.

3. The Interests of the Consumer

Since this business has been built by the voluntary patronage of millions of American families, we believe that we must give consideration to their interests in this matter. Millions of women know how acute is the present problem of providing food, clothing and shelter for themselves, their husbands and their children out of their present income. When food prices go up it is not a question of paying more for the same food. They do not have the additional money with which to pay. Therefore, they must buy less and eat less. A & P Food Stores last year distributed at retail $881,700,000 worth of food at a net profit of 1%.

This food was sold to the public at prices averaging from eight to ten percent lower than the prices of the average individual grocer. Literally, millions of sales were made at prices twenty-five percent lower than those of the average individual grocer. This saving of eight to twenty-five cents on each dollar is of vital importance to these millions of families. If they were denied the opportunity to buy at these lower prices it would simply mean that in millions of homes they would have to leave meat off the table another day a week, eat less fresh fruits and vegetables, give the growing child one bottle of milk less every week or stint on butter, cheese, poultry, eggs and many other of the most nourishing foods.

In the last 10 years during the greatest period of chain store growth, the number of individual dealers has increased rather than decreased. We maintain that there is nothing wrong when these dealers charge more than we charge. They must charge these prices in order to make a fair profit. The average grocer will, upon request, deliver the groceries to the customer's door and in many cases extends credit to some of his customers. Delivery service costs money. The grocer must put this added cost in the prices to his customers. In the same way the extension of credit involves the expense of bookkeeping, the tying up of capital, and credit losses. There is nothing wrong in the higher mark up of the individual grocer, because he is rendering a service that justifies his prices.

If some customers can afford and voluntarily elect to pay a higher price for groceries and meats because they want credit or because they want delivery to their homes it is quite proper that they should pay an additional price for such service. However, the millions of families in this country whose income is limited and who can have more and better food because they are willing to pay cash and carry home their own purchases, should not be denied this opportunity. Millions of families of limited incomes can only enjoy their present standard of living through these economies and savings. These millions of American families have helped us build a great business because they believe we have rendered them a great service. The company, therefore, has an obligation and a duty to protect the interests of these customers.

4. The Interests of the Farmer

Eight million farm families are engaged in producing the food consumed by the American people. All of the farm homes in America, therefore, comprising one-fourth of all of the population of the United States, have a direct interest in the methods of distribution by which the products of their labor and of the soil are marketed.

Approximately 30% of their production is marketed through the chain food stores; about 70% through individual grocers. Their fruits, vegetables and other foodstuffs are sold through the chain stores at prices averaging 8% to 10% cheaper than the prices at which they are sold by many grocers. If the farmer sells a given product to both at the same price, the individual grocer must charge the public more to take care of his higher costs. Thus 30% of the farmer's products reach the public at low prices and 70% of his products reach the public at higher prices.

If the public cannot consume a given crop of apples, potatoes, berries or any other product, at the prices at which they are offered, these goods do not move from the grocer's shelves; a surplus accumulates and the farmer finds that he either cannot sell the balance of his crop or must sell it at a substantial loss. Only too often a situation arises when it is literally cheaper for the farmer to let his apples or his peaches rot on the ground than to expend the labor costs necessary to pack and ship them. Every farm economist knows that a 10% surplus does not mean 10% less return to the farmer but often more than 20% less return.

In other words, the farmer's problem is to sell his products at the cost of production plus a fair profit and to get them to the public with as few intermediate costs and profits as possible. It is therefore obviously unfair to the farmer to propose legislation which would, at a single blow, wipe out 30% of his distributing machinery—and that 30% the part which maintains the price to the farmer yet reaches the public at low cost because of economical distribution. It would be just as unfair to the farmer to propose putting out of business all of the individual grocers of the country who distribute 70% of his produce. Both chain food stores and individual grocers perform a distributive function vital to the interests of the farmer. If either failed to function the farmer would be faced with tremendous surpluses and heartbreaking losses.

For years the A & P has dealt with the farmers both as producers and consumers. We feel that we have a definite obligation and duty to oppose any legislative attack upon their best interests.

5. The Interests of Labor

Every business in this country has a vital interest in the purchasing power of labor. When labor has high wages and great purchasing power, everyone is prosperous. When labor's purchasing power is curtailed, all business suffers and the American standard of living is impaired. For many years it has been the wise policy of the national government to protect real wages and the purchasing power of the worker's dollar. Combinations or agreements to raise prices, thus reducing real wages, have been declared illegal.

It certainly seems strange that it should now be proposed to destroy a group of businesses for the frankly admitted reason that they furnish the necessities of life to the wage earner and his family at low prices. There are approximately 900,000 workers directly employed in the chain store industry. What course is open to us but to oppose the action of a man who, at a time when more than 11,000,000 wage earners are already out of work and 3,000,000 families on relief, proposes a bill that would add almost another million to the roll of unemployed, wipe out 30% of the distributing machinery of all of the farmers of the United States, and raise the cost of living of the wage earners of the United States.

We believe that our organization has rendered a great service to the American people and that it is as a result of that service that we have prospered. If we consulted our own interest it would be very easy to stop and enjoy whatever leisure we have earned. No one is dependent upon us except our fellow workers. However, after the fullest consideration of all interests, we have arrived at the decision that we would be doing less than our full duty if we failed to oppose, by every fair means, legislation proposed by the Honorable Wright Patman.

As we have said, Mr. Patman is an able politician, an able lobbyist and an able propagandist. In that field he is an expert. We are experts only in the grocery business. We believe the chain stores have a right to present their case to the American people. We will not go into politics, nor will we establish a lobby in Washington for the purpose of attempting to influence the vote of any member of the Congress. We expect only a full and fair opportunity to present the case for the chain stores as a great service organization for the American people.

Since the task we have set before us is one involving the widest dissemination of complete information to all of the American people, and since this is a profession in which we are not expert, we have engaged Carl Byoir & Associates, public relations counsel, to do this work. We realize that our views are seldom news. We know, therefore, that we must be prepared to spend a substantial sum of money in telling our story to all of the American people. We declare now that this money will be spent in the dissemination of information through paid advertising and every medium available to us, and in cooperating in the work or formation of study groups among consumers, farmers and workers, which provide open forums for a discussion of all measures affecting the cost of living.

We believe that when the American people have all of the facts they will make their decision known to their representatives in Congress. As Americans we will be content with that decision.

$30 Tax Rate Set At Clintonville Council Meeting

Public Improvements and Higher Relief Load Account for Increase

Clintonville — The tax rate was set at 3 per cent, or $30 per thousand, by the common council of this city, which held its October meeting. The rate last year was $27.50 per thousand, but due to the increased amount of public improvements and the increasing relief load, it was deemed necessary to raise the tax rate for 1938.

The assessed valuation of Clintonville property in 1938 is $4,815,027, an increase of $294,150 over the preceding year, this being due to the large number of new homes erected and a number of improvements to business properties.

Estimated expenditures for the ensuing year amount to $195,457.26 which include: state and county taxes, $22,000; school district No. 1, Clintonville, $40,500; general city purposes, $55,050; highways, bridges and culverts, $18,750; protection to persons and property, $13,500; health department, $3,050; education, music, and recreation, $5,325. The 3 per cent tax rate was recommended by S. J. Tilleson, city clerk, and the finance committee including H. M. Jesse, Louis Krause and Fred Gansen.

Referendum on School
Max Stieg, treasurer of the board of education, was present at the council meeting to explain matters pertaining to the erection of a new grade school building and other changes to the high school building, estimated to cost $300,000. This matter will be referred to the people in a special referendum to be held soon.

It was also decided by the council that a referendum be held at the general election on Nov. 8 on the following question: "Shall a municipally owned hospital be erected in the city of Clintonville at a cost not to exceed $50,000, providing that 45 per cent of the cost be granted by the federal government?"

Mayor A. A. Washburn reappointed S. J. Tilleson a member of the water and light commission for a term of five years. The appointment was confirmed by the aldermen.

The salary of Mrs. Frances Olmsted, case worker in this city, was increased from $40 to $50 per month.
Kenneth Darling of the Lions club and Jack Juett of the American Legion appeared before the council requesting that an ice skating rink be provided during the coming winter season. The mayor appointed Aldermen Henry Schellen, John Tandy and George Berndt to confer with the service clubs on this project.

Max Stieg appeared on behalf of the library board, requesting that that body be given permission to beautify a parcel of land in the rear of the public library which was recently purchased by the city as an addition to the athletic field. The request was granted by the councilmen.

City officials who desire to attend the convention of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities at Madison on Oct. 13 and 14 may have their expenses paid by the city, according to action taken at the meeting Tuesday evening.

A wholesale license to sell fermented malt beverages was granted to Adolph Buelow, who resides on Sixth street.

The remainder of the session was devoted to routine business, such as hearing monthly reports of the street commissioner, milk inspector and the allowing of bills.

Addresses Lions
Arthur E. Johnson, new football coach at the Clintonville High school, talked to the Lions club Tuesday evening on the value of school athletics. Musical numbers were furnished by Mrs. Lester Sawyer and son Duval of this city, who played piano and saxophone duets. The program was held following the weekly dinner at the clubhouse on Long lake.

New teachers at the Clintonville public schools, members of the board of education and their wives were entertained Monday evening at Hotel Marson by the teachers' association. Covers were laid for 48 persons at a 6:30 dinner, after which bridge provided amusement during the remainder of the evening.

Sunday school teachers and members of the choir of Salem Evangelical church honored Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Heil with a post-nuptial party Tuesday evening at their home on Lincoln avenue. Mrs. Heil, the former Miss Fern Stichman, has been church pianist for several years. Games furnished entertainment, after which a lunch was served. The guests presented a gift to Mr. and Mrs. Heil, whose marriage took place Sept. 10 in this city.

Methodist Foreign Missionary society was entertained Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Julia Tilleson and Mrs. M. B. Lendev at the latter's home on E. Fourteenth street. The newly-elected officers were installed and a lesson on India was conducted. The officers for the ensuing year are: Mrs. W. H. Wieser, president; Mrs. T. C. Dix, vice president; Mrs. Henry W. Anthes, treasurer; Mrs. James Smiley, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Edward Wilke, recording secretary.

At a meeting of the Rebekah lodge Tuesday evening it was decided to hold a "get together" for Odd Fellows and Rebekahs at their hall on Friday evening, Oct. 21. The evening will open with a 6:30 covered-dish supper, after which there will be a program of entertainment. Local members of the two orders were also invited to attend a regional meeting at Appleton on Oct. 28, which will be one of the

J. J. Plank Is Renamed Commission Chairman

Joseph J. Plank, 340 W. Prospect avenue, was reelected chairman of the Appleton Water commission at its semi-monthly meeting Saturday. Plank recently was re-appointed to another 5-year term on the commission and has served as chairman for the last 15 years.

The commission voted to furnish water service to the Appleton Ready Mixed Concrete company if the company secures the necessary easements to install the water mains. Motorcycle Officer Speaks on 'Safety'

At Village Schools
Hortonville — A. Dunn, Hortonville police officer, accompanied William Rohan, county motorcycle officer, to each of the schools in Hortonville, where the latter talked to the children on "Safety."
Members of the Hortonville High school senior class elected Myrna Rathbun, Wednesday, as assistant cheer leader. Dorothy Collar also is a senior cheer leader.
The eighth grade class is combining work in citizenship and language. It is presenting famous speeches in history.
The room decorating committee, with Marie Buchmann as chairman, is trimming the grammar room in fall colors.
The student council in the grammar room with Leo George Hershberger as president, has compiled a set of etiquette rules for the room. The council is also helping direct pupil activities.

The sixth grade geography class has been studying about Hortonville. Now they are studying how Wisconsin looks as a whole. Each boy and girl has a topic to talk on. The topics and pupils are: "Education," Beth Ellen Otis; "Manufacturing," Calvin Breitrick and Laureen Main; "Transportation," Frances Schroeder; "Agriculture," Larry Holer; "Government," Joseph Maryniuk; "Climate," John Blank, and "Topography," Mary Ann Watson.
The pupils were giving these talks Wednesday and Thursday.
The seventh grade is comparing life during Columbus' time with the present. Topics and pupils follow: "Transportation," Cecelia Strong; "Dress," Bernice Steffen; "Weapons," Ira Collar; "Living Conditions," Ann Olk; "Education," Carol

The Air Around the Earth IV--CLOUDS

If it were not for clouds, the sky would not be so interesting. Clouds make the sky change. Sometimes it is dark and gray, sometimes bright and blue.

Fleecy clouds seen against a blue sky give us one of the beautiful sights of Nature. It is a joy to watch them floating slowly along.

Yesterday I spoke of the water vapor in the air, and of the fact that without vapor there could be no clouds. When billions of tiny bits of water vapor condense, or get close together, they make a cloud.

Clouds move because the air moves -- in other words, because there are winds. Sometimes a cloud travels hundreds of miles. It may at last enter a cool layer of air, causing the water vapor to crowd together still more closely until it forms rain drops.

In that case the people below have a shower, or perhaps a steady downpour of rain. If they are having a picnic, or are playing an outdoor game, the chances are they'll not like the rain, but we must never forget how important rain is. Without it, the earth's crops could not grow.

It is possible to walk through a cloud. Often a person does that while climbing a high mountain. He sees a cloud above and keeps getting closer to it. By and by, he finds himself in a mist or fog. If he climbs far enough upward, he is likely to get past the fog, and to look back and see the top of the cloud. It also is common for people in airplanes to fly through clouds, or above them.

Another thing that air does is to spread heat. Sunshine makes the ground warm, but heat quickly rises from it to the air above. If there were no air around the earth, the ground would get extremely hot during the daytime.

Stoves and furnaces spread warmth because heat is carried by the air. We notice this plainly when we have a hot air furnace, but it is true even for radiators. A radiator "radiates" heat; it sends out heat waves which warm the space around it.

At noontime in summer sunshine comes down almost straight from overhead. This tends to give strong heat to the ground and to the air. In the afternoon, the sun's rays reach us on a slant, and do not supply such strong heat. That is why the air is warmer at noon than in early morning or late afternoon.

In winter the sunshine comes on a fairly sharp slant even at noon. This explains why winter is cooler than summer. Strangely enough, the sun is closer to the north temperate zone in winter than in summer. It is the slant of the rays, not the distance, which explains the cold weather.

John Garfield—seems happy about the whole thing, bars and all, judging by the grin. You see it's all happening in Hollywood, to which town John—a Broadway stage veteran at 25—was whisked when a talent scout saw him there in "Golden Boy." Warners started him off with a role in "Four Daughters" and his screen debut caused such a furore in press and public that he has been given the leading role in "Blackwell's Island."

By Jimmie Fidler

Hollywood—Conway Tearle—"actor, aged 60"—died the other day in a Los Angeles hospital. Doctors said his death was caused by heart trouble—but I'm wondering if "heart-break" wouldn't have been a more accurate diagnosis.

As a young stage star, the heir of one of the world's most famous theatrical families, he was an idol in both England and America. Movies were born and he was among the first of the footlight Greats to step before the cameras. He reigned like a king here for nearly fifteen years, turning in best performance after best performance in hit picture after hit picture until suddenly, about ten years ago, talkies were born. Hollywood's producers, in the state of panic with which they usually greet innovations, started importing Broadway celebrities by the train load. But Conway Tearle—a veteran of the stage—couldn't get a job. He was out of work for three years, until, in desperation, he returned to the New York stage, played a bit in a hit production, and forced himself into the edge of the limelight again. Even so, Hollywood refused to remember and Conway, who by ability was entitled to play the best character roles pictures could offer, has spent the last five years playing bits in quickies. He was in the hospital, dying, for weeks and Hollywood didn't even know it— which rewards its greatest stars by such forgetfulness. And a barbed indictment of our heartlessness that Conway Tearle, yesterday an idol, should die today an embittered, forgotten man.

CUFF NOTES: Paramount has blue-penciled plans for that Benny Goodman swing special—surveys indicate the jitterbug fad is dying out. . . . George Murphy and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer have called off their feud—he'll tap opposite Eleanor Powell in "Honolulu" . . . Best news of the week: Alice Brady has recovered from that long illness sufficiently to sign for a new screen role. . . . If his studio okays the deal, Paul Muni will probably return to Broadway this winter to star in Tolstoy's "War and Peace" . . . Is Doug Corrigan doing a wrong way flight to popularity?—Hollywood is burning because of his stipulation against set-visitors. . . . That secret vacation Frances Dee and Joel McCrea are taking will cost them plenty—she missed a personal appearance tour at top money. . . . Stand by for a new Lawrence Tibbett single—he boated in from Australia Monday and two studios are already bidding. . . . Companion headlines in today's news: Errol Flynn leaves the hospital—Lili Damita leaves for Europe. . . . First American picture to hit the screen in Russia since Chaplain's "Modern Times" is "Snow White"—Stalin personally okayed it. . . . Martin and Universal are still battling because the studio ordered her to wear tights in "Adam's Evening"—amusingly, she was a strange business this—Gloria Youngblood and Morgan Conway—she's Rudy Vallee's ex-thrill. . . . Studio orders ban college football for Mickey Rooney but he's not discouraged—he's trying out for yell leader at U. S. C. . . .

Governor Roy Smith of New Mexico wanted to meet his favorite star, Jane Withers—and Darryl Zanuck personally escorted His Excellency to the stage where she was working. "Nothing doing!" ruled Gertrude Visard, appointed by the Los Angeles School Board to teach Jane her A-B-Cs. "The state law requires all child actresses to complete their studies by 4 p. m. Come back later." The governor finally got in—but only by agreeing to give Jane a lesson in the history of New Mexico.

BELLS AND NO-BELLS: Best picture title on the coming attractions list is "Each Dawn I Die"—but "Problem Child," announced for Stan Laurel's next, isn't bad. . . . Chimes to "The Ugly Duckling," a new Walt Disney short—it's the best offering on this week's menu. . . . A big bang on that song to John Payne for overdoing the First Family of Virginia theme—or is the studio publicity department responsible? . . . A carillon to Antonio Moreno for moving courage enough to accept an obscure bit as a comeback starter. . . . No-bells to Joan Bennett for being the first star to follow that silly fad of dying the hair to match the costume—hers is powder blue. . . . And a dull thud to Tom Brown for letting his domestic duties hash-up a promising career. . . .

Robert Wilcox, urged by his studio to change his name, refused, contending that "there's nothing in a moniker." He must have been sincere for I've just discovered that he's taking flying lessons—from an instructor named Coffin! (Copyright, 1938)

Booster Club Makes Changes in Program At Kimberly Meeting

Kimberly—The Booster club at its meeting at the clubhouse Tuesday evening passed on several recommendations from executive committee. The club voted to discontinue refreshments after each meeting and award no more door prizes and to stop mailing out meeting notices each month.

Although the lunch will be omitted at each meeting, malt beverages will still be served at a small cost to members. The club meets on the first Tuesday of each month and it was brought out that a notice can be posted at the mill entrance and a few business places which would save time and cost of mailing out more than a hundred cards each month.

The admission to club dances had been raised to 25 cents per person. It formerly was 25 and 15 cents per person. The club also went on record to discontinue the fine for delinquent members who now can rejoin the club with the same privileges as a new member.

The Fleur-de-Lis club met at the home of Mrs. James Gaffney Tuesday evening. Schafkopf was played and prizes awarded to Mrs. Frank Courchane, first, Mrs. Emma Pocan, second, and Mrs. Edward Krueger, traveling. Next week the club will meet at the home of Mrs. Edward Krueger.

The Boy Scout committee will hold a meeting at the village hall at 7:30 Thursday evening.

Washington Should Set Example For New Era of Internal Harmony

For New Era of Internal Harmony

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—Roosevelt is talking about an era of good feeling again. In his Hyde park press conference he asked for a cessation of internal bickering and an era of domestic peace.

But unless the press accounts which I have seen were incomplete, there was a glaring omission in the president's request for a domestic armistice. He wants labor to wash up its family row. He wants industrial leaders to stop haranguing and stirring up bad feeling between business and government. He wants a cessation of extravagant statements, of misrepresentations, of name calling, of settling up bogies, and of sniping at government policies for political effect.

Doesn't he want his own people in the government to pipe down, too? Isn't he going to call off his own hatchmen?

Secretary Hull is a wise old bird. There are times when he can hurl language that would make General Johnson look like a sissy. When Republican chairman John Hamilton recently attacked the Hull reciprocal trade program, the old warhorse of the state department ripped off his coat and came back with both fists and both feet all landing at once. No more has been heard out of the Republican national committee on this and probably nothing more will be heard. That's one side of Hull.

Another side of Hull is that when foreign affairs become tense, when the time comes to sit tight, he clamps his whole department into silence unbroken even by a whisper. No officials are permitted to make speeches during one of these stretches. You don't find any body talking out of

When Roosevelt came into office many things needed attention. It is hard to realize now that an institution as powerful in our economic life as the New York stock market was operated as a private club with no federal regulation. Roosevelt has attended to many things like that. To do these things required fighting. Those had to be stepped on. That was the situation here and neither Roosevelt nor
